Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 23 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 2, 1934 — NUMBER 10

THE EDITOR SAYS—

At this time, with conditions as they are, the County Court should be chosen with especial care. We are not acquainted with either of the Republican candidates but are sure they are citizens of a high type else they would not have been selected by their party to make the race. We have known Judge Heeb and Judge Gosche for a number of years and know them to have had experience on the bench which especially fits them for the position. Our Tom Henry has no opposition and of course will sit on the bench with judicial dignity. Both candidates for Representative are from Sikeston so we are sure to be represented. C. C. White, Democrat, has served one term, while Roger Bailey is willing to serve the coming term. Roger is a fine chap but if he has made an active campaign we haven't heard of it. Mr. White will undoubtedly represent Scott county at Jefferson City during the 1935 Legislature. You can beat the brush in the hills, the cornfields and cotton patches in the lowlands of Scott county, and cannot scare up a rabbit that can outrun Frank Kirkpatrick, Democratic candidate for Recorder. We have never met his opponent, Mr. Dannenmueller, but after the votes are counted, he will be found among those who also ran. O. L. Spencer, Leo Pfefferkorn and Sherwood Smith are all three certain of election as they have no opposition for county offices, while Bill Ellis, for Constable of Richland Township, has no opposition.

John Hurston, of St. Louis, was caught window peeping at night and given a fine of $1,000. Now if the peeper in Ward 3, Sikeston, could be caught and given 50 lashes with a black-snake whip and a stay out of town forever, all would be well.

GOATS MAY BE PLACED ON LITTLE RIVER LEVEES

A plan to release three or four carloads of goats on land belonging to the Little River Drainage District in order that an overabundance of vegetation on levees may be eliminated was suggested by government officials in Washington this week, and on Wednesday B. F. Burns, secretary, and Earl R. Schultz, engineer, both for the Little River Drainage District, went to Columbia to talk with AAA officials there about the proposed project.

The goats would be sent here from a government owned surplus supply gained by the government through a purchasing plan similar to that of the cattle buying program, but officials of the district would be required to furnish shelter for the goats and to construct fencing where it is found necessary.

Most of the goats, according to the plan, would be placed in Dunklin and Pemiscot counties, where frequently four or five ditches run parallel to each other.

$9, TWO WATCHES TAKEN FROM W. H. SIKES HOME

Burglars succeeded in entering the W. H. Sikes home at 730 N. Kingshighway on Wednesday night while members of the family were at a party given for Mary Jane Sikes at the Marshall hotel, and in escaping with between $8 and $9 in change and two children's wrist watches.

Returning home at about 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Sikes found two electric light bulbs burning upstairs, one in the guest bedroom and the other in the bathroom.

All drawers had been taken from bureaus and dressers, evidently in haste, and their contents strewn over the second floor rooms. The watches taken were of the Mickey Mouse and Orphan Annie kind. No clothing was stolen.

Since only money and the two watches disappeared and since the burglar or burglars crawled through the downstairs bathroom window, which is small, after first cutting the screen, it is thought that the crime was committed by boys.

No clues, except fingerprints on woodwork in the house, have been found.

ARM BROKEN WHEN TRUCK, CYCLE COLLIDE

Cleve Briggs, about 16 years old, sustained two broken bones in his left arm directly above the wrist Thursday morning when the motorcycle which he was driving was hit by a truck operated by Charles Neal on North Kingshighway in front of Arthur's Service Station.

The accident happened as Briggs was going south on the pavement and as Neal, driving north, suddenly started to turn left into an alley without signalling, according to witnesses.

Briggs was immediately taken to the office of Dr. H. M. Kendig, where he was treated before being removed to his home on South Kingshighway.

Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $20. The glass of one of the truck's headlights was broken and a fender bent.

Dr. L. O. Rhodes is confined to his home on account of illness.

Mrs. L. O. Rhodes returned home Tuesday from a visit with T. A. Wilson and family at Jefferson City and Mrs. Joy Allen at St. Joseph, Mo.

Two Well-Matched Teams To Clash Here Tonight

The Bulldogs will meet a formidable foe when they clash with Coach H. C. Haile's Farmington high eleven at 7:30 o'clock tonight (Friday) on the Sikeston football field.

The Farmington squad, composed of experienced men, has not been beaten this year and its nearest approach to defeat was the occasion when a game with Jackson ended in a 13-13 tie.

The Farmington men have met only three other teams this season, however, defeating Cape Central 7 to 6; St. Louis Roosevelt high 14 to 12, and Crystal City 26 to 0.

In the probable lineup there will be one man, M. Doughty, left tackle, playing his third year as a regular; seven men, L. Smith, H. Guill, C. Fischbeck, E. Yates, I. Grief, E. Knight and E. Lewis, their second year as regulars, and the remaining three, their first year.

The Bulldogs, though, have what is considered as fine a record as that of the Farmington eleven. They have also won four games from Missouri teams: Matthews, 12 to 0; Charleston, 19 to 6; Dexter, 12 to 6, and Chaffee, 12 to 0. They also won from Cairo 25 to 0 and have lost only to the unusually strong Jonesboro team, 7 to 18.

The Charleston Bluejays defeated Cape Central by a score of 7 to 6, while Farmington won from Cape only with the same score, and the Bulldogs beat Charleston badly. Dexter, whom the Sikeston players trounced 12 to 6, lost to Cape only by an 8 to 9 score.

The Bulldogs have also shown increasing power and improved playing ability, indicating that if they are not crippled tonight they will be able to fight well for another victory, which may determine the champion football team of Southeast Missouri.

The probable starting lineup for Farmington is printed below:

	Pos.	Wt.	Plyd.

Convention For Negro Ministers to End Today

An annual institute for negro ministers of this district is scheduled to close at noon today after a five-day session held at the Mt. Pisgah Freewill Baptist church in New Madrid, the 1934 meeting place.

Throughout this week, the mornings and afternoons have been devoted to classes conducted by prominent negro leaders on such topics as "Church Finances and Records," "The Church and the Community," "How to Make a Sermon," "Church Organizations," "Ministerial Correspondence" and "How to Study the Bible."

At 11 o'clock each day Jeanes supervisors, school children, New Madrid residents and ministers gathered for devotional exercises. At the evening meetings, open to all interested persons, they heard lectures and discussions by various officials present for the institute.

At the devotional period Tuesday morning Dr. J. H. Dillard of Charlottesville, Va., former president of the Jeanes and Slater funds, served as chairman, introducing C. A. Kitch of Jefferson City, state supervisor of schools, who told members of his audience that work, ambition and common sense are prerequisites for success and advised them to be true to themselves.

Telling the persons present that happiness cannot be bought, the Rev. Everard W. Daniel, pastor of St. Mathews negro church in Detroit, Mich., spoke particularly to the large delegation of school children who attended the meeting. "To be happy you must be good," he said, adding that to be good one must be considerate of his parents and proud of them. Most important of all, however, one must know God, a word which signifies "the good one."

"And how may we know God?" the Rev. Mr. Daniel asked. "Thru Jesus Christ," he said, citing instances to show that Christ was supremely happy although he was far more poor than are people today.

C. L. Blanton, Sr., who was asked by Dr. Dillard to address the audience, told how he frequently visits the Sikeston negro school and how he as well as his children were reared among the negroes of the south, respecting them and having their respect.

Mr. Blanton highly praised Miss L. A. Myers, Jeanes supervisor for Scott county, and the negro ministers, saying that they "have more influence over their people than any white man."

"You must have self-respect," Mr. Blanton said. "If you've got that you won't be for sale to anyone. Through my paper I've been friendly toward the negroes. We need you and you need us."

Dr. Dillard, who earlier in the meeting was called "our patron saint" by the Rev. Mr. Daniel, then told the negroes that "no one should ever grovel before any other person. Treat everybody with respect and courtesy, but be independent." To be independent, Dr. Dillard said, persons must try to make livings."

Before the end of the meeting, B. C. Caldwell of Carbondale, Ill., formerly field agent of the Jeanes and Slater funds, taught the negro children a song, "Father, we thank thee for the night." The meeting was opened with an invocation and a reading of the scripture and was closed with a prayer. Between the speeches, Mrs. R. A. Crawford, Jeanes supervisor for Pemiscot county, led the congregation in singing several hymns.

The institute will be held next year in Sikeston.

Returns After Recovery From Accident Injuries

K. K. Baker, well-known Southeast Missouri archeologist, returned here Tuesday after an absence of more than a month. Since Sept. 29, he has been confined in the home of a friend near East Prairie, recovering from injuries which he sustained in an accident on Highway 105, and although he still suffers from his injuries, he was able to travel to Sikeston and can now walk with the aid of a cane.

The accident happened as Mr. Baker, Ezra Hawkes, a farmer of near East Prairie for whom he was working at the time, and Mr. Hawkes' son, Noble, were driving to the Hawkes farm in a wagon after transporting a load of sorghum. As they reached a point on the highway a mile west of East Prairie, the three saw a car approaching from the opposite direction as well as one coming rapidly toward them from behind. Hawkes pulled his team to the rgiht off the concrete half to the right off the concrete half enough to avoid an accident.

The car being driven from behind by Tom Allsup struck the wagon, wrecking it and throwing Mr. Baker 30 feet over the wagon and car to the road's gravel. Hawkes, who was holding the reins, and his son sustained only minor injuries.

Mr. Baker, who was unconscious for an hour and a half after the accident, was hurried to the office of Dr. Sam Martin in East Prairie, where it was discovered he had two broken ribs, two large gashes on the back of his head and one directly over his right eye, and severe injuries to his left knee and left hip, in addition to internal injuries.

After receiving treatment in East Prairie, he was taken to the Hawkes home, where he remained in bed for three weeks.

F. D. LAIR AND SAM WILCOX ATTEND FRIGIDAIRE MEET

F. D. Lair and Sam Wilcox left here shortly after noon Wednesday for Cape Girardeau to attend a business meeting for Frigidaire dealers of Southeast Missouri which was held during the afternoon and evening at the Hotel Marquette. Mr. Wilcox is the Frigidaire manager at the Lair Furniture store.

About 50 Frigidaire retailers from thruout the district and P. H. Vinyard of Poplar Bluff, district Frigidaire supervisor, attended the session to hear prominent Frigidaire company officials including the general manager and the sales manager of the St. Louis office, discuss plans for a Frigidaire Christmas campaign.

PROMINENT SPEAKER

Lieutenant Charles E. Lofgren, secretary and personnel officer to Rear Admiral Richard Byrd during the last Byrd Antarctic Expedition, who will talk to high school children and interested adults at 8:45 o'clock Friday morning in the study hall during national education week here.

3-DAY OPEN SEASON ON DEER A SUCCESS

The fourth three-day open season on four-point buck deer came to a close last Saturday at sundown and early reports indicate a successful season. Reports were received Monday morning from 15 counties where deer were taken legally totalling 75.

Persons having legally killed a deer in Missouri and having it properly tagged, may legally hold the carcass until February 5.

Heavy foliage is reported to have made it difficult for hunters to locate deer this season. Hunters were reported in about 25 Ozark counties.

No reports of accidents have been received while hunters were afield during the season, continuing the good record of the three previous seasons since deer hunting has been permitted.

$3,868,425 RELIEF AID TO MISSOURI FOR MONTH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 32.—Allotments of federal relief funds to meet November relief needs in states were announced today by Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, to include Missouri, $3,868,425.

FORD PLANS TO REOPEN PLANT AT ST. LOUIS SOON

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 31.—The Ford Motor Co. said today it was planning to reopen its assembly plant in St. Louis, which had been closed for two years. The plant will reopen in time to start production of 1935 models.

SARAH MAE HEATH

Sarah Mae Heath, 3-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamon Heath of near Sikeston, died in Cape Girardeau Monday.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Paul Hannah, five miles northeast of Sikeston, by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Sikeston Church of the Nazarene. Burial was in a cemetery near McMullin.

The child, who was born near Sikeston July 4, is survived by her parents, her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heath and her maternal grandmother Mrs. Sarah Hannah, all of near Sikeston, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Cook, Lynnville, Ky. Albritton service.

STUBBLEFIELD-CONNOR

Miss Maggie Lee Conner, daughter of Mrs. Maggie Conner of Sikeston, and Marion Stubblefield were married at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stubblefield.

The service was read by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here, in the presence of a few close friends of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Stubblefield will live here, where Mr. Stubblefield is associated with the T. P. Rafferty & Son Grocery store.

The Dorcas and Agoga classes of the First Baptist church held a Hallowe'en party in the Agoga hall Tuesday evening at 7:30. Everyone was masked. Prizes were awarded for the two prettiest costumes and then a booby prize was also given. The evening was spent in playing games and singing, ending was refreshments of doughnuts nad hot chocolate. There were about 60 present.

Numerous Features Planned for Education Week Here

A full week of activity in observation of national education week, including an exhibition of reproductions of masterpiece paintings of all ages, a lecture by a nationally known navy officer, a high school band concert, and a novel stunt, has been planned for Sikeston by Roy V. Ellise, superintendent of schools.

The week's program will be officially opened at 8 o'clock Monday evening, when the 62-piece high school band under the direction of "Peg" Myer of Cape Girardeau and augmented by at least four distinguished St. Louis artists presents a concert in the gymnasium at its first public appearance.

Since almost the first week of school Mr. Meyer has been here training students daily to organize the first band ever formed at the Sikeston high school, and for that reason as well as because the band represents the largest single group of students at the school the concert is expected to attract particular attention.

The St. Louis Artists are Joseph Gustat, first trumpeter of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra; John Sauter, who plays the flute, the saxophone, and the clarinet; Schuyler Alward, xylophone player and for some time an artist at radio station WIL in St. Louis; and Jerre Comack, accompanist and soloist on the piano accordian, who for approximately four years has been the staff organist at WIL. It is possible that Edward Oventrop, trombonist with the St. Louis Symphony, will also be here.

The evening's program will consist of a concert by the band, followed by solo numbers by the St. Louis artists, who will be introduced by Mr. Alward serving as master of ceremonies. Before the end of the concert they will play together a special arrangement of "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

In order to encourage school children in their efforts to form a band here, the St. Louis men will come to Sikeston without charge. Admission to the concert will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults. All proceeds will be used by the band to purchase uniforms, instruments or music, according to Mr. Meyer, who has organized similar bands in Malden, Perryville, Charleston, Poplar Bluff and Jackson.

Throughout the mornings and afternoons of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday a collection of 150 fine prints reproduced directly from original paintings now hanging in the most important art galleries of the world and representing the best work of representatives of the French, Italian, Flemish, English, Dutch, Spanish, German and American schools of art will be on display in the high school gymnasium.

Admission to the exhibit, which includes famous portraits, landscapes, marines, and pastoral scenes in the colors of the original canvases, will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults. Members of the school faculty are urging their students to see the display since it will be invaluable as an educational feature, and residents of Sikeston have been cordially invited to the exhibit because they will not be given an opportunity again soon to see such a splendid collection. All money made from the admission charges will be used to buy pictures, probably some of those on display, for the Sikeston school buildings.

One of the most notable features of the week and certainly the most novel, will be the direction by former school officials and faculty members of the Sikeston schools for one period Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The plan, conceived, according to Mr. Ellise, "just for reminiscence and to honor the schools of yesteryear," has been given the enthusiastic approval of persons formerly connected with the Sikeston schools.

R. E. Bailey, who has long been prominent in school activities here, will serve as superintendent, and George W. Kirk as principal. Former teachers who now live here and will be at the school building Thursday afternoon to take charge of the children in the grades which they once taught include Mrs. Phil Renner, Mrs. J. L. Tanner, Mrs. W. S. Smith, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. E. C. Matthews, Mrs. Georgia Donnell, Mrs. Dess Bloomfield, Mrs. Shirley Bloomfield, Mrs. Annie Winchester, Mrs. Roger Bailey, Mrs. Jean Hirshberg, Mrs. H. E. Reuber, Mrs. Milem Limbaugh, Mrs. C. T. Old, Mrs. J. William Foley, Mrs. C. D. Matthews, III, Mrs. H. M. Kendig, Mrs. Ernest Harper, Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Mrs. Wilbur Ensor, Mrs. Frank Schulte, Mrs. Harold Trowbridge, Mrs. Charles French, Mrs. Harry Dudley, Miss Caroline Hess, Miss Anna Randol, Frank Van Horne and Pleas Malcolm, Mrs. A. J. Moore and Mrs. John Powell.

"The patrons of the town are invited to visit the school at any time, and the former pupils of the above teachers are especially urged to visit while this 'stunt' is on," Mr. Ellise said.

Next Friday morning, at 8:45 o'clock, Lieutenant Charles E. Lofgren, a distinguished former naval officer who, through experience, has gained wide and authoritative knowledge of Antarctic expeditions, will address school children and adults in the high school study hall.

Lieutenant Lofgren was Rear-Admiral Byrd's secretary from the beginning of the organization of the first Byrd Antarctic Expedition, personnel officer and "right-hand man" during the entire trip, and personal aide during Byrd's 1930 transcontinental lecture tour.

Because of his work with the expedition, Lieutenant Lofgren won the esteem of Byrd, who wrote in his "Little America", "I handed these (sealed instructions left at the base preparatory to the Admiral's taking off on his epic flight over the South Pole) to Lofgren who had served the expedition faithfully and well, and than whom thre is no finer or truer man."

Before associating himself with Byrd, Lofgren served in the United States Navy, retiring in 1927 after 16 years of honorable service. During the world war, he was commissioned as lieutenant, junior grade, and participated in the occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914. He holds four good conduct medals for fidelity, zeal, and obedience in the navy and was awarded the special gold congressional medal as an officer of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition.

In addition to relating the story of the first Byrd expedition, Lieutenant Lofgren will link that journey with the present one and so will explain clearly what is happening now. Admission to his lecture will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

When the Perryville high school football eleven comes here for a scheduled battle with the Bulldogs a week from tonight, all former Bulldog players will be admitted free to the game as guests of the school. The night, which has been designated as homecoming, will be definitely a part of the national education week program in Sikeston, and the high school band will make its second appearance this year when it plays at intervals throughout the game, which is expected to attract unusually large crowds.

On the following morning, a week from Saturday, women students of the Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College at Cape Girardeau will come here to join high school girls in a hockey game on the school field. The two teams, which will meet only for an exhibition game, will each be composed of college women and high school girls.

The entire program has been arranged to interest school children and adults alike, and Sikeston residents are urged to join faculty members in what promises to be a completely successful observation of national education week.

HARRY YOUNG, JR., AMONG HONOR STUDENTS AT VMI

Harry Young, Jr., has made the honor roll in studies at the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va., which he is attending this year, according to a telegram received here Thursday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young.

Mr. Young went to VMI in September after he had completed a year's work at Washington University in St. Louis and had spent the summer here in Sikeston.

FORNFELT BARBER TO FACE LIQUOR CHARGE

Peter C. Callette, operator of a Fornfelt barber shop, is scheduled to be arraigned today before John Ferguson, United States Commissioner in Cape Girardeau, on a charge of possessing whisky for which no federal liquor tax has been paid.

Callette was arrested late Tuesday after a raid conducted by state and federal liquor control agents, who stated they seized 14 gallons of whisky. When he could not supply a $2000 bond, he was placed in the Cape Girardeau county jail at Jackson.

McDOWELL, MUNGER TO BE HERE FOR TWO DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

State Senator James McDowell of Charleston, who addressed a large, enthusiastic audience here last Friday night, will return to Sikeston Saturday for a speech in Railroad park at 2:30 o'clock in the aftrenoon.

Senator McDowell, who is a very popular speaker in this district, will be easily heard all over the park since Harry Young's loud speaker system will be installed there for his use.

At 7:30 o'clock Monday evening E. M. Munger, prominent Chaffee attorney who is well-known here, will address Democrats in Railroad park over the loud speaker system. All Democratic workers have been especially urged to attend this meeting as well as a session for them at the end of the address.

TAX CERTIFICATE POOL TO BE CLOSED NOV. 10

Tentative plans for closing the surplus cotton tax-exemption certificate pool for the receipt of surplus certificates on Nov. 10 were announced today by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Purchase of certificates from the pool, it was emphasized, would continue so long as the pool had certificates on hand.

E. L. Deal, manager of the pool, said it was felt that all holders of surplus certificates who wish to turn them into the pool will have had that opportunity by Nov. 10. State allotment boards have been urged to assist producers who wish to turn in surplus certificates to the pool.

"Because we have tentatively selected a final date for receiving surplus certificates," Mr. Deal said, "it is now more urgent than ever that producers speed up the surrender of any certificates they wish to offer for sale thru the pool."

The pool now has on hand orders for many more certificates than it is able to fill, Mr. Deal said. On all of these orders, the purchasers expect to pay four cents a pound, the rate fixed by Secretary Wallace as the standard selling price for surplus certificates purchased through the national pool.

Producers will be paid approximately $20 a bale for all certificates sold through the pool. When the pool is liquidated, each producer will be returned his share of any certificates the pool does not sell. These may be used next year if the Bankhead Act is effective for 1935.

Mrs. Clay Mitchell entertained Wednesday evening for her son Bobby with a Hallowe'en party.

Mrs. Roy Johnson of St. Louis entertained at bridge Wednesday afternoon.

Essex Farmer Is Near Death from Hydrophobia

Fred Mayberry, a 76-year-old Essex farmer, was placed in a Poplar Bluff hospital Wednesday suffering from an advanced case of hydrophobia, the first which Poplar Bluff physicians have ever seen in this district. Little hope is held for his recovery since there is no known cure for the affliction.

The sight of water, according to attending doctors, causes Mayberry to suffer violent paroxysms, and cold air, unusual noises, and bright lights produce convulsions in his throat and chest.

The farmer was bitten by his own dog four months ago, but since the wound was slight and healed rapidly he thought little of it. The dog disappeared soon after biting his master, and Mayberry concluded a neighbor had killed it.

Ordinarily the first symptoms of hydrophobia appear within from three to 12 weeks after a poisonous bite, but in some instances they have not become apparent for a year. Mayberry, however, first became ill last Monday, suffering a severe chill and fever. He ate no food and had almost no water, and when his condition became steadily worse he was taken to the hospital, his wife, with whom he moved to Stoddard county from Hamilton county, Illinois, in 1900, remaining with him.

RETIRED FRISCO ENGINEER DIES AT CHAFFEE HOME

Funeral services for William Patrick Nations, 58-year-old retired Frisco railroad engineer who died Tuesday after a two years' illness of high blood pressure, were held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at the Nations home in Chaffee, the Rev. E. W. Ligon, pastor of the Christian church, officiating. Burial was in the cemetery at Swinton, where members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, an organization to which he belonged, had charge.

Nations retired in February, 1932, after serving 26 years and 8 months with the Frisco railroad. He is survived by his fourth wife, Mrs. Emma Clark Nations, to whom he was married in Chaffee on July 24, 1932; a son by a former marriage, E. B. Nations of St. Louis; his father, James Nations of Swinton, where he was born; two brothers, Oscar Nations of St. Louis and James Nations of Swinton; a sister, Miss Nina Nations of Beverly Hills, Calif.; a half-sister, Mrs. Alma McClanahan of Commerce; and a half-brother, Silas Nations of Hayti.

DEMOCRATS TO MAINTAIN FOUR WARD HEADQUARTERS

Democratic party leaders have arranged to maintain four ward headquarters here for use by party members on election day, next Tuesday.

Information concerning the election may be obtained by calling the following persons, who will have charge of the separate headquarters: A. C. Barrett, ward one headquarters in The Standard office on North Kingshighway, telephone 137; John Young, ward two headquarters in the Southeast Missouri Burial Association rooms on the corner of Center and North New Madrid streets, telephone 655; Herbert Walton, ward three headquarters in the Nuway Cleaning building on West Malone avenue, telephone 705 or 168; Jim Stone, ward four headquarters at the Sikeston Lumber Company on East Malone avenue, telephone 226.

Mrs. Laura Smith is expected home today (Friday) from a visit with her daughter Mrs. Ed Crowe at Dexter.

New $3 License Fee Imposed On Lawyers

Under a rule enacted recently by members of the Missouri Supreme Court, all persons who are licensed to practice law in this state are now required to pay a $3 license fee annually to the circuit clerk of the county in which their offices are located.

The ruling, which became effective Thursday, also provides that attorneys must pay 50 cents by Dec. 20 for the remainder of 1934.

A receipt showing payment of the fees will enable lawyers to practice anywhere in Missouri, but if any attorney fails to pay his fee he will be automatically suspended and will not be permitted to practice. He may be reinstated, however, by paying the fee plus a $1 penalty.

If a suspended lawyer continues to practice law after he is notified of his suspension, he will become liable to a penalty of reprimand from the bench, suspension for not more than a year, or permanent suspension. Circuit bar committees will be asked to notify attorneys of their suspension and to urge them to become reinstated within 10 days.

HALLOWE'EN RAINFALL TOTALS .40 OF INCH

The strong wind, the brief hailstorm, and the rain which fell heavily here for a short time on Hallowe'en night did not net Sikeston farmers very much moisture.

According to records kept by John LaFont at the Frisco station here, Wednesday night's rainfall totaled only .40 of an inch. The night before, Tuesday, a total of .15 of an inch fell.

The weather has also been mild. The first freezing temperature of the season was recorded on Mr. LaFont's instruments Saturday night when the mercury dropped to 29 degrees. The low temperature Wednesday night was 34 degrees.

MINER PARTY POSTPONED

The special social entertainment planned by Miner residents for Hallowe'en night has been postponed until Monday evening because of the rain Wednesday.

Alas, alack-a-day, Sally Rand failed to come this way.

The Standard is in receipt of a letter from a Kansas City colored man wanting a job as chauffeur, truck driver, car washer or tire service man. If you can use him write to Aaron J. Lennox, 2915 Holly street, Kansas City, Mo.

It seems strange that the Republican spellbinders in Missouri have nothing to offer the people in the way of a cure for the depression, but can only criticise the President for trying to feed the hungry, for trying to help the farmer and for saving the remaining banks that Hoover failed to destroy, and point with holy horror at the Pendergast organization in Kansas City. The Republicans say that Pendergast "feeds 'em and votes 'em," which is a very good system. We are not afraid of Tom Pendergast, in fact we are an admirer of his organization and wish he would take a week off some time and come to Sikeston and help us organize the fifty thousand Democratic voters in Southeast Missouri, as he has his one hundred thousand in Kansas City. Long live Pendergast and his organization. We tried to beat 'em one time and now we want to jine 'em.

Elmer Donnell, executive vice-president of the Associated Industries of Missouri, eats our britches out for an editorial paragraph printed in the Oct. 19 issue of The Standard in which we took a shot at the Associated Industries as we see them. The information on which we based our opinion of the said Industries was gathered from newspaper reports and from word of mouth. The late manager of the Missouri Utilities Co. in Sikeston informed us his company paid for their Sikeston office for looking after legislation was something like $385, which the Scott County Mill Co. and the McKnight-Keaton Grocery likewise paying into the Industries. The Industries man in Jefferson City, according to newspaper report, was Mr. Patterson, a lawyer formerly of Sikeston, who was there as a lobbyist or agent. We'll confess we are prejudiced against the Associated Industries, believing their aim is to protect corporations from paying their share of the taxes on their watered stock as well as their legitimate issues.

This Friday night Farmington is to invade the Sikeston football field to attempt to take the Bulldogs to a cleaning. All Sikeston should turn out and lend their moral support to the home boys. Will you do it?

Do you believe in justice to law violators? If so, what do you think of this: Pickle Dill and Red Heath were each given a $50 fine and 90 days in jail for being drunk and attacking negroes with their hands and feet, while Marshall Gunter was given a $25 fine and jail sentence suspended for attempting to kill a man with a shot gun while drunk. For one we believe the first two got justice while the last fellow should have been sent over the road.

Some mighty good pictures have been shown of late at the Malone Theatre, but none of them will be more entertaining than Will Rogers in "Judge Priest" which will be presented Sunday and Monday. You should enjoy the homely humor of Judge Priest.

Tons of foodstuffs have been distributed to the unemployed and afflicted in Southeast Missouri the past year and more tons are now in the commissaries awaiting distribution when the call comes. All of this by the will and orders of the Democratic administration at Washington which raised the money to feed the hungry and take care of the sick instead of providing it for the big corporations as did Mr. Hoover. Just how any Republican, who has been furnished work by this administration to feed his family, can step up to the polls and vote the Republican ticket this time, is beyond understanding. It is true there has been a lot of money spent, and perhaps some of it unnecessarily, but when a family is suffering for food and fuel there is no time for delay. To vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom Tuesday will be an endorsement of the policies of Mr. Roosevelt, the friend of the people.

Francis Ford, famous serial star of the silent days, has a comedy role in support of Will Rogers in "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday. John Ford, director of "Judge Priest," is a brother of the player who once co-starred with Ella Hall and Grace Cunard.

DEMOCRATIC COMMENT

"A chicken in every pot" sounded good during the Hoover administration, but the trouble was, too many people lost the pot before they got the chicken," says the Memphis Democrat.

While making a speech the other day Roscoe Patterson yelled, "It's unconsti-toot-toot-toot-ional." A small boy on a nearby corner heard the tooting and yelled to another small boy, "Come on Bill, number 805 is pullin' in"—Cape Girardeau News

The difficulties in which our country finds itself were not caused in one or two years, and cannot be solved in a short period of time. Never has the White House sheltered a man more humane, more earnest in his desire to solve the enormous problems of the common people. A sweeping Democratic victory this November will certainly be interpreted as an expression of confidence in our great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt.—Chariton Courier.

A vote for Truman and the Democratic ticket in Missouri is a vote in support of Franklin D. Roosevelt. It is a vindication of his sympathetic attitude toward the forgotten man. If you stay at home because you think everybody else is going to the polls and perform the duty incumbent upon you as well, you should be enrolled among the enemies of the man who has tried to help you.—Paris Mercury.

"It is my conviction that the regular American ideal is a state society in which each and every man has a fair chance to acquire the things essential to comfort and happiness," said Charles M. Hay, City Counselor of St. Louis in a recent address at Hillsboro. "That ideal, which the old order not only menaced but reduced to mockery, the "New Deal" seeks to achieve and to make real for all Americans. When did it become a menace to American ideals for the government to assist in taking men off of relief rolls and putting them on payrolls, or to help men maintain and enjoy their own homes? When did it become un-American to establish an economic order in which every man is given a fair chance to earn a living?"

William Darling, whose sets for "Cavalcade" won him the Academy award last year, was art director of the new Fox film "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday, with Will Rogers as star. Darling did some heavy research for the picture, as its locale is Paducah, Ky., in 1890.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

SHOPPERS this week will find vegetables of all kinds plentiful, though prices are higher due to the advancing season. Eggs are much higher and butter somewhat more expensive, but meats are moderately priced.

Both white and sweet potatoes or yams represent outstanding values. Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and Brussels sprouts are particularly seasonable and low in price. Onions, turnips, carrots and beets are dependable and cheap standbys. Iceberg lettuce is both fine in quality and cheaper than usual. There is an abundance of cheap pumpkin for Hallowe'en.

Apples are plentiful and moderately priced, grapes and grapefruit as well, while melons have largely disappeared.

The following menus are made up from the latest market news available:

Low Cost Dinner

Pot Roast of Beef Boiled Potatoes
Carrots Onions
Bread and Butter
Banana Cream Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Pork Candied Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Deep Apple Pie

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 37th Year in Southeast Missouri

Style For the Living Room?

Take a look at four or five new living room outfits that are being displayed for the first time this week in our front windows. Mohair Frieze takes the lead at present in durable upholstering that finds favor with wise buyers. Furniture windows in large cities are full of it but in none of them will you find superior styles to our late models.

Some Class to Aladdins

Along with this nice lot of living room suites we have a new shipment of Aladdin lamps to show you. Most housekeepers understand that Aladdin always has something different—and usually something prettier—than competing manufacturers. There are table lamps, boudoir, bridge and junior styles in this collection. Aladdins have class to them.

Electric Bargain

Who wants a Universal Electric Range for $25 cash? We mean one in excellent order, fully guaranteed to work or no sale. Has been used of course but in our trades we have accumulated several of them and want the money they cost us, hence this ridiculous price. Cost over $100 new.

See Today's Majestic

Our store now has exclusive sale of Great Majestic Ranges for this town and territory. Majestics have been considered "Top of the Pot" in quality for half a century and are that today. Used stoves may be used as part pay and plenty of time is available in paying the balance. The 1934 models are beautiful.

Not Hard to Take

Stove sales for the season so far have exceeded expectations by a good margin and there are still many who have not yet prepared for winter. Moore's heaters and ranges are at the head of the class and in the $50.00 price we have the best range in this section. Without exaggeration our store is "STOVE AND RANGE HEADQUARTERS." Make us prove it.

Stylish Clothes—Bum Furniture

There are a good many stylish women living in Southeast Missouri. None of them would be caught wearing mutton leg sleeves, hoops or bustles but quite a few seem content to use furniture that is as far behind the times as the antiques mentioned. Out of date home furnishings detract from one's social standing more than one may realize. Many families could better invest a small sum each month in home comforts rather than spend a like amount on trifles that are so quickly forgotten. Try out the plan. It works.

Not Long 'Till Christmas

As a forerunner of what is to come quite a number of pretty furniture novelties suitable for holiday gifts are arriving almost daily. Lamp tables, odd chairs, coffee tables, etc., in the new bone white finish are here in variety. Visitors are always welcome, whether buying or not.

Why Not a Genuine Frigidaire?

As the giving season approaches many wise heads are thinking of placing one of these glistening new porcelain Frigidaires in the family stocking on Dec. 25th. That seems to us a 100% sensible decision. The Frigidaire Company will have some special news in regard to their Christmas campaign within a few days. You will find it in our column.

Quality Wood Heaters

There seems to be a shortage in Sikeston of good quality wood heaters. We have a nice lot coming in that should be ready for sale the latter part of this week. Call and see them.

Voters, Let's Elect STEPHEN BARTON

CIRCUIT JUDGE

For answer to argument of Judge Kelly's campaign managers that Judge is qualified and is entitled to the office of Circuit Judge and Steve is not, following information is submitted for your consideration.

Qualifications of Judge Kelly—
Age of Judge Kelly when elected Circuit Judge—45 years.
Years of practice of law when elected—19 years.
Additional training—Prosecuting Attorney Scott County.

Qualifications of Steve Barton—
Age of Steve Barton—45 years.
Years of practice of law—19 years.

If Judge was qualified when elected Circuit Judge 22 years ago, and he was, by what process of reasoning can the Judge's managers conclude Steve is not now qualified? The Judge had no training on the bench when elected. No person can have experience in an office until elected, and chances for others are few if offices are given to holders for over a quarter of a century as the managers of Judge Kelly's campaign are advocating in the newspapers over the district.

WHAT THE NEW DEAL HAS BROUGHT MISSOURI IN DOLLARS AND CENTS

(Figures, taken from Official Records, do not include expenditures after Sept. 1, 1934).

Under the AAA adjustment program, Missouri farmers have received $10,488,116.51, divided as follows: Corn-hog, $6,834,707.09 Wheat, $1,131,698.93; Cotton, $2,471,769.51; Tobacco, $49,941.05.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has also paid Missouri farmers $5,893,520.00 for drought cattle and sheep and $501,600.00 under the corn fodder purchase plan.

Relief activities, up to Sept. 1, involved the expenditure in Missouri of $52,329,900.19; the greater part of it federal money, distributed as follows: Direct relief, $27,053,828.53; CWA, $22,005,742.47; CWS (Women's Work), $716,578.68; Relief commodities, $599,879.42; Garden program, $309,176.63; Education program, $712,641.34; Transient relief, $601,821.74; Student relief, $101,440.84; Drought relief, $220,712.79; Food conservation, $1,001.30; Rural rehabilitation, $7,077.37.

The Home Owners' Loan Corporation has advanced $50,000,000.00 to refinance loans on Missouri homes.

The CCC program has resulted to date in the expenditure of $579,519.61 in Missouri of which $277,701.53 was spent in State Park improvements and $273,233.47 on forestry work.

Under the PWA $79,000,000.00 of construction work in Missouri, other than Federal projects, has been approved, and $28,000,000.00 in federal loans and grants made.

Missouri has received in special federal grants for highway work under the New Deal the sum of $13,000,000.00.

Total — $244,792,656.35.

While Will Rogers was making the Fox film "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday, he was also appearing on the stage in Los Angeles as star of Eugene O'Neill's play, "Ah, Wilderness." In the evenings, therefore, he portrayed a shrewd, "Down East" Yankee, while his days were spent as "Judge Priest," of the Deep South, just as shrewd, but an opposite in all other respects.

GRANTED TEMPORARY INJUNCTION TO STOP TERMINAL ERECTION

Residents of the southeast part of town, with Virgil Williams as plaintiff, were granted a temporary injunction Oct. 24 against Carson and Righter to stop construction of a new truck terminal on Highway 61 at Gladys street, on the grounds that its presence in the neighborhood would create a nuisance.

The injunction, which was granted by Judge Frank Kelly, was served on Carson and Righter officials a week ago Thursday. A final hearing on it is scheduled for Nov. 17 during the November term of the Scott county circuit court. The plaintiff will be represented by Ray Lucas of Benton and the defendants by Blanton & Montgomery.

Opposition to the location of a truck terminal in the southeast part of town has been vigorous since residents learned that Carson and Righter intended to build on a lot adjoining the highway. At a council meeting Oct. 10, a petition protesting the construction of the terminal was read. The signers, all persons living near the proposed location of the terminal, stated they believed the value of their property would be lowered and their homes less enjoyable if the terminal were built in a section which was otherwise almost wholly residential.

Though several councilmen said at the meeting that they considered the board has little jurisdiction over matters of that nature, the group voted to permit Carson and Righter to erect a terminal and work was started. When the injunction was served, actual construction of the terminal had not started. Since last week, however, workmen have been pouring concrete on a strip lying between the highway and the Carson and Righter lot.

DEER HALVED AFTER TWO GO TO COURT

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 29.—W. R. Smith, Springfield glass salesman, took the advice of a Justice of the Peace and divided the biggest deer ever killed in Taney county today. Smith told of shooting the 15-point, 225-pound buck at 70 yards, when he returned home Thursday evening from a hunting trip near Kirbyville.

Today, however, he gave half the deer to Porter Calton, Barry county stockman. Calton maintained he killed the deer after Smith had missed and lent it to Smith to have some pictures taken to "fool his friends." Calton said Smith refused to return the deer and the stockman went to a Justice. The Judge discouraged a litigation. An ensuing agreement halved the meat, gave Smith the head and Calton the hide.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

The road to continued prosperity is right ahead. A get-together stay together and boost together spirit will get your city on that road and keep it there.

All citizens should boost with real enthusiasm. Your city is worthy of your best endeavors.

You should think of your city with pride and glory in her achievements.

Boosters are the back-bone of development; they are the mainstay of progress.

There has never been a greater opportunity than right now for every citizen to render real service to the home city.

It is the duty of every man to boost the home city. It is up to them to measure up to the requirements of their city.

They should rally to the support of every forward movement and lend their time and money unstintedly for success.

There is bound to be growth where there is action. People are attracted to the communities that are alive and let the world know it.

WHAT OF OUR CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP?

Personally, the editor of this paper has been opposed to any person holding office continually for a score or more years unless the law provided for it, but we are frank to say that we have changed our mind slightly at least in the present campaign. We have mixed our ticket for many years, not adhering to party candidates because they were the party nominee. In this respect we feel that there is no choice between the Republican and the Democratic candidates for judge of this circuit, and will support Judge Frank Kelly with this paper and with our vote, because we cannot nor will not vote for nor support the Republican nominee. This is hitting straight from the shoulder and that is what we intended to do.

Judge Frank Kelly has been on the bench for a score of years and is fitted for the office he now holds and which he seeks to again be elected. Never in the 22 years he has held this office has there been one hint of partiality or corruptness. He is clean and his record on the bench has stood with fairness and ability with that of any of the circuit judges of the state. If there were faults, (and who is faultless) his has been one on the side of mercy and as we said when he announced one can say as did Judge Pat Dyer of himself, "Thank God, my errors are on the right side."

We do not anticipate the election of his opponent and express our views because we want to do so; and, because we believe it is our duty to do so. If there are any others who think we are right upon this subject they should do likewise; if not, they have only their own conscience to dictate to them their course. The office of circuit judge is not one of politics though there is no provision for electing by party rule. Judge Kelly is better fitted now than ever before to preside over our circuit court.

—Enterprise Courier,
Charleston, Mo., May 31, 1934.

JUDGE FRANK KELLY FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

We hear some Republicans say that some Democrats in this county will support Steve Barton for circuit judge of this district, but we personally know of none. In our opinion it is merely campaign propaganda which will fail in its purpose.

This paper would like to know of just one reason why any Democrat should vote for Steve Barton. He has been practicing law in this district for a good many years, but so far as we are informed, he has not risen to any great heights in his profession and from our information he is just a plain, ordinary, country lawyer, who has never been tried in a judicial position of importance.

We do know this, that in 1932, he made some of the rankest Republican speeches that were made in this county. At Gordonville he appealed to the prejudices of the mothers whose sons he said Woodrow Wilson and the Democrats used as gun fodder. He has been lambasting Democrats and their party since he has been able to climb a stump, and just what there is about him to attract a Democrat is more than the Cash-Book is able to discern.

Judge Frank Kelly, the Democratic nominee, has been circuit judge in this district for a number of years. He has been tested and tried. There has never come to this office any report or charge of the slightest character as to his unfairness or dishonesty. He may have made honest mistakes, but none which were influenced by prejudice or hope of reward. The positions of judges of our courts should not be permitted to become political rewards. We must have judges who are capable, clean and honest, and this paper is sure that Judge Kelly fills the bill. We do not believe that any good Democrat will support Steve Barton.

—Jackson Cash-Book,
Oct. 4, 1934.

Judge Kelly has received the nomination at the hands of the Democrats without a contest by any of the able and competent Democratic attorneys of the circuit, thereby receiving their unqualified endorsement for the position of Circuit Judge.

Such action should convince any Democrat that Judge Kelly is regarded by the bar as worthy of election and should receive the full vote of his party so long as judges are elected in that way. If he had not been considered worthy by the bar some of the attorneys would have opposed him for the nomination.

The editors who have observed his work, and the lawyers who work with him deem him deserving of election. We believe the Democratic voters will be joined by many Republican voters who know of and appreciate the fine impartial service Judge Kelly has rendered, in electing him again as our Circuit Judge.

Respectfully submitted,

Democratic Judiciary Committee,
28th Judicial Circuit,
By: Russell L. Dearmont.

BUSY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, Sept. 24 (via Mackay Radio):—Work, more work and then still more work has been the order of all the days since the sun has returned to us. If only the students and associates of our learned scientists could peek in at Little America for a day they could lift the romantic curtain of exploration and perhaps smile at the scene presented.

For instance, let me picture the motley array of pioneers of the "B.E.A.," meaning the "Boys After Experience." There is Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, of Iowan Wesleyan College, repairing the door on a tunnel entrance and muttering dire threats against the next man that breaks it. Paul Siple, of Erie, and Alton A. Lindsey, of West Newton, Pa., are staggering across the snow under a load of garbage cans. Earl Perkins, of New Brunswich, N. J., is industriously digging out a bag of coal while E. H. Bramball and Arthur Zuhn are clearing out a shaft, Dr. Charles G. Morgan, of Tulsa, Okla., is washing dishes and Alfonse Carbone, our cook, just cautioned Paige to watch the bread in the ovens.

Alton A. Lindsey, Biologist, of West Newton, Penna.

It has been work of all kinds all day long ever since the sun appeared. There are meteorologists, George Grimminger and William C. Haines, filling that every hungry mouth of the snow melter and surveyor Quin Blackburn just offered to feed the cows for Edgar Cox if he would build a trail box for him. Verily the pursuit of science is interesting but it certainly keeps us busy.

The versatility of the men is really amazing. We have manufactured snow glasses and a really excellent compass. Then because of the extreme cold the ink in the recording instruments on the autogiro had a tendency to harden and we made new recorders of smoked materials on which the pens scratch a white mark.

The sail maker is a good tailor and makes trousers, shirts and parkas. Lewisohn has modern eyes very fine heads and is now doing a dog team. Dr. Louis H. Potaka of New Zealand has an uncanny ability to dig up useful articles lost or buried by the first Byrd expedition. The Doctor disappears in the morning with a pick and shovel and returns at noon with anything from a package of darning needles to the rear axle of an old tractor. The days never lack interest and never lack work and at 9 o'clock each night when Commander Noville shouts "Lights Out," every one is already asleep.

All this goes on at a feverish pace, not because we are being driven but because we welcome the chance to get out and hustle. But this hustling certainly makes us hungry. Would you like to know what I had for breakfast this morning? Well, here is my menu: Tomato juice, grape-nuts with cream and sugar, two fried eggs and bacon, toast, strawberry jam and two cups of black coffee.

The real big excitement during this week, was digging the big Condor airplane out of the snow. This is the machine that Admiral Byrd intends to use for his long range explorations. This and all the other outdoor work is being done with the thermometer registering from 45 degrees to 60 degrees below zero.

There will be a gala celebration down here next month. We are laying plans to have some extraordinarily big doings on October 10 in honor of the first anniversary of the sailing of the Jacob Ruppert from Norfolk on October 12, 1933. We advanced the date two days in order to have the celebration on the afternoon of the broadcast over the Columbia network on Wednesday, October 10. You see, when it's 2 o'clock in the afternoon here, it is 10 o'clock in New York, so our big doings will take place in the afternoon, but you will hear it on the regular Wednesday night Byrd broadcast.

If you haven't joined our club yet simply send me a clearly self-addressed stamped envelope at the club's American headquarters and free membership card and big working map of Antarctica will be sent you. Address Arthur Abele, Jr., President Little America Aviation an dExploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Mrs. Edward C. Matthews is in St. Louis this week.

Mrs. Black of the Slack apartment building on Front street, is suffering from a sprained ankle which she received in a fall Wednesday.

CONTINENTAL OIL RADIO PROGRAM BEGINS AT 9:30

An interesting and varied program sponsored by the Continental Oil Company is brodacast every Wednesday night, beginning at 9:30 o'clock Central Standard Time, over the NBC, including radio stations KWK and WENR.

Among the well known radio artists who appear on the program are Jack Denny and members of his orchestra, Harry Richman and John B. Kennedy.

It was erroneously stated in a Continental Oil Company advertisement in the October 16 issue of The Standard that the program is broadcast at 8:30 o'clock every Wednesday evening.

PAUL RUSKIN DAUGHERTY

Paul Ruskin Daugherty, 25 years old, died at 1:45 o'clock Monday afternoon of an affliction to a bone in his leg at his home six miles south of Sikeston.

Funeral services were canducted in the Matthews school gymnasium at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. D. M. Margraves. Burial was in the Memorial Park cemetery at Sikeston.

Mr. Daugherty was born Dec. 9, 1908, in New Madrid county, where he spent his entire life on a farm. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Daugherty, of the home; two brothers, Carl Daugherty of Osceola, Ark., and Oliver Daugherty, also of the home; and four sisters, Alice, Maxine, Mary and Anita Daugherty, all of the home. Albritton service.

DORCAS CLASS NEWS

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist church met Sunday morning at 9:30 in their class room. There were 25 present. The lesson was based on Paul's letter to the church at Ephesus, and he was admonishing the Christians to stick to their Christian mode and standard of living, instead of being easily persuaded to join th crowd in worldly living.

We are very sorry to announc that the grandmother o fone o our members was claimed i death last Monday night.

We continue our invitation t those who wish to visit our Sun day school class.

Judge Kelly's Managers Deal Steve Barton a Blow below the belt

Judge Kelly's managers are reprinting in this paper and others over the district an editorial from the Charleston Enterprise Courier of May 31, 1934, which they claim is a Republican newspaper. It is not a republican newspaper, and Judge Kelly's managers know it, and they are trying to convey the idea that the editorial was directed against Steve Barton.

The editorial from the Enterprise-Courier, which is an independent newspaper, was published against an entirely different person than Steve Barton, as will appear from the following.

"Before the primary election when Oren Wilson announced as a candidate for circuit judge in opposition to our present judge—Frank Kelly—we editorialy stated we would support and vote for Judge Kelly, he being a high class gentleman and an able judge. It developed before the primary election was held that Stephen Barton, a prominent lawyer of Benton announced against Wilson as a Republican candidate for the office. Judge Kelly was nominated without opposition as the Democratic candidate and Barton defeated Wilson.

"Learning that Barton had filed, before the primary, we stated that he was a good lawyer and a high class citizen and whether Barton or Kelly was elected in November the district was certain of having a splendid circuit judge.

"A good many Republicans, with which party we are associated, but not publishing a Republican newspaper, have an idea that when we spoke so highly of Judge Kelly, and we have not changed our mind, that it looked as though we were against Mr. Barton. Our original article was directed against Oren Wilson, as not a proper man for the circuit court bench, and not against Mr. Barton."—Enterprise-Courier, Charleston, Mo., Nov. 1, 1934. L'Aiglon's done wonders with a grand new fabric called "KREPE CHARM"

IT'S their very own —this "Krepe Charm", made exclusively for L'Aiglon by one of the country's leading fabric producers. Of pure dye, all rayon yarn, it cleans beautifully and can even be washed if carefully handled. There are plaids, tie silk patterns, monotones and two-tone checks to choose from. And L'Aiglon has fashioned them with both eyes on Paris. No one's been neglected in this group either, for there are styles for miss and matron and the size range goes all the way from 14 to 44.

When the School Lunch Looms

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Director, Heinz Food Institute

OCTOBER—AND the school year is already well under way. Each morning brings a quick succession of important tasks. First comes a hearty breakfast—so necessary to start the day well. Then the lunch must be planned to balance nutritionally and packed so attractively it will be eaten down to the last cooky crumb. Of course, packing and carrying limits the food selection, but it is well always to build your menus around this nourishing standard—milk, a hot soup or drink, sandwiches with crisp green vegetables, a simple fruit dessert, and a finishing touch of sweetness in a cooky or a piece of candy. The daily schedule is simplified when the children can come home for lunch. This permits a wider choice of substantial quick dishes, such as nourishing cream soups, oven-baked beans, cooked spaghetti and cooked macaroni from the supply shelf, warm vegetables, green salads and fruits. Such menus as these suggested below will give you new impetus in school lunch plans, be the lunch packed or served at home.

HOME LUNCH

Cream of Tomato or Cream of Celery Soup (ready-to-serve) Crisp Crackers
Snappy Ham and Swiss Sandwich
Lettuce Celery
Fruit Custard* Old Fashioned Brown Sugar Cookies Milk

PACKED LUNCH

Cream of Green Pea Soup (in thermos) Crisp Crackers
Mock Chicken Vegetable Salad Sandwich* or
Chipped Beef, Cheese and Horseradish Sandwich*
Apple Peanut Butter Drop Cookies* Milk

(*) Indicates recipes given below.

Fruit Custard—Scald 1¾ cups milk in double boiler, add 1½ cups cooked rice and ⅓ cup Mince Meat and cook for 5 minutes. Blend 2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt and add to 2 slightly beaten egg yolks. Add ¼ cup milk to this, and stir gradually into the rice and Mince Meat mixture. Continue cooking until thick or the consistency of very thick custard. Remove from fire and add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into casserole or pudding dish and top with meringue made by whipping 2 egg whites until they form a peak, then gradually whipping in 4 tablespoons granulated sugar. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 15 minutes or until delicately brown. Serve cold.

Mock Chicken Vegetable Salad Sandwich—Mix thoroughly 1 cup coarsely ground cooked pork or veal, ½ cup finely chopped raw carrot, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons India Relish, 3 tablespoons Mayonnaise and salt to taste. Spread between slices of white or whole wheat bread, which have been spread with Mayonnaise

Chipped Beef, Cheese and Horseradish Sandwich—Soak ¼ teaspoon Evaporated Horseradish in 1 teaspoon cold water for 10 minutes. Put 1 2½-oz. jar dried beef and ¼ lb. American cheese through food chopper. Add Horseradish and enough Mayonnaise to moisten. Spread 10 thin slices of bread with Mayonnaise. On 5 of them, spread the sandwich filling and top with remaining slices. If served at home, toast lightly, after which lift tops and sprinkle with shredded lettuce. Makes 5 large sandwiches which may be cut in halves.

Peanut Butter Drop Cookies—Cream ¼ cup butter with ½ cup Peanut Butter, add ½ cup sugar and continue creaming. Add 2 egg yolks and mix well. Sift 1 cup all-purpose flour, which has been sifted once before measuring, with 2 teaspoons baking powder, and add alternately with ⅓ cup milk. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and drop by teaspoonfuls on a well greased baking sheet. Bake on a rack placed rather high in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 10 minutes or until delicately brown

Quantity Recipes of Quality

AFTER THE lazy summer lull, church and club activities begin to pick up with new fall zest. Members whose enthusiasm was worn threadbare at the end of the spring rush, return from their holiday trips full of energy for the new year's work. Fagerly they plunge into their fall activities, not the least of which are the countless pleasant dinners that women's organizations are wont to give to raise funds for the new season, or just to get together again. So often, though, it is difficult to plan a budgeted meal for a large group of people. Recipes for six do not always multiply successfully, and dishes that are delightful when served for a small family, often are quite impractical for a big group. So it will be with considerable relief and confidence that club women may turn to these reliably tested quantity recipes for their fall dinner parties.

Ham Baked with Barbecue Sauce (serves 50)—Soak 2 hams, weighing 10 lbs. each, for 3 or 4 hours or overnight in warm water to extract salt. Drain. Add fresh water and boil slowly until tender, about 3½ or 4 hours. Remove from water, place in roasting pan, cover with barbecue sauce and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until thoroughly cooked (1½ to 2 hours) basting constantly with the sauce.

Barbecue Sauce (serves 50)—Chop 2 large onions and 2 cloves garlic very finely. Add 1 cup Tomato Ketchup, 1 cup Worcestershire Sauce, 1 large can Cream of Tomato Soup, 1 cup Pure Cider Vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon pepper. Pour over hams.

Quick Cole Slaw (serves 50)—To 2 gallons finely shredded cabbage add 2⅓ tablespoons sugar, 2⅓ tablespoons salt and 1 teaspoon pepper. Mix 1 quart Mayonnaise with 1 cup Pure Vinegar and pour over the cabbage. Add 6 chopped green peppers and 1 teaspoon onion juice. Mix thoroughly and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Fruit Cup Cakes (50 cup cakes)—Sift 6 cups pastry flour (sifted once before measuring), add 3 teaspoons baking powder and ¾ teaspoon baking soda, and sift together once. Cream 1 cup butter, add 2½ cups sugar and cream together thoroughly. Add 6 well beaten eggs. Add flour alternately with ¾ cup sour milk. Add 3 cups Mince Meat and 3 teaspoons vanilla and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin tins, filling ½ full. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes. (May be baked in oblong baking pans in moderate oven (375° F.) for 45-50 minutes.)

Porcupine Beef Balls (serves 50)—Combine 8 lbs. ground round steak, 1 qt. uncooked rice, 2 tablespoons minced onion and 2 tablespoons salt, and mix thoroughly. Form into small balls. Place in deep baking dishes and cover with 1 No. 10 can Cream of Tomato Soup. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 1½ hours. (By using uncooked rice a "porcupine" effect is assured, because during the cooking process the rice swells and extends in points on the outside of the beef balls.)

Sunset Salad (serves 50)—Dissolve 1 institutional package (26 ozs.) lemon flavored gelatin in 3½ cups boiling water and ½ cup Pure Vinegar. Add 3 qts. water or pineapple juice and chill. Then add 3 qts. finely grated raw carrots, ½ No. 10 can drained crushed pineapple and 2 teaspoons salt to gelatin when slightly thickened. Chill in individual molds or shallow pans until firm. Serve in crisp lettuce nests with Mayonnaise.

FEDERAL AGENT SEIZES FIVE LOTS OF APPLES

Five lots of apples, shipped from Illinois, have been seized in Southeast Missouri towns by John P. Myers, deputy United States marshal, who served warrants for seizure issued by the Federal court in St. Louis at the request of the department of agriculture.

The apples were taken because they were allegedly sprayed with arsenate of lead or other poisonous chemicals and not washed properly and so left unfit for human consumption.

It is thought that perhaps the present owners of the apples will be allowed to wash the fruit to make it saleable, since otherwise they will be forced to sustain losses.

MANY TO ATTEND DISTRICT MISSIONARY MEET TODAY

A large delegation of Sikeston women will be in Caruthersville today for an annual meeting of missionary societies of the Cape Girardeau Methodist Episcopal church.

The following women, in addition to those who earlier in the week decided to go to Caruthersville, will attend the sessions: Mrs. Clarence Felker and Mrs. Lacy Allard, both members of the Russell-Bradley missionary society of the Sikeston Methodist Episcopal church; Mrs. Lyman Mitchell, a member of the Ben-Jon missionary society, and Mrs. C. A. Cook, Mrs. F. E. Mount, Mrs. J. M. Massengill and Mrs. G. A. Dempster, all members of the Ebert-Kready missionary society.

Other women who will be present at the meeting are Mrs. Arch Russell, president of the Ebert-Kready society; Mrs. Margaret Harper, president of the Russell-Bradley society; Mrs. E. H. Orear, a member of Ebert-Kready, who will lead a song service in the afternoon session, and Mrs. J. N. Ross, also a member of Ebert-Kready, who is vice-president of the St. Louis conference of missionary societies.

SEVEN TO BE AWARDED SCOUT TENDERFOOT PINS

At least seven Sikeston boys will be awarded Tenderfoot pins at a court of honor held in connection with an annual roundup for Boy Scouts of the Southeast Missouri Area Council which will be held in Cape Girardeau this evening.

They are T. W. Lee, Jr., Loomis Mayfield, Jr., Shad Olds, Jack Shepherd, Foy Collins, Buddy Lathom and Lyman Royal. All of them have completed tests to qualify for the award.

The largest delegation of Sikeston scouts to attend the roundup will be members of Troop 43, who will be accompanied to Cape Girardeau by four members of the Scout committee of the Lions club, sponsors of the troop, and two Lions members. The committeemen are Joe Sarsar, A. M. Jackson, O. T. Elder and Wayne Bess; the members, Elmos Taylor and Harry Sharp.

Scouts of Troop 43 who are planning to attend the roundup are Clarence Byrd, Albert Canoy, Dempsey Gardner, Clyde Long, Trentis Stovall, Claude Turner, Billy Bess, Harry Waldman, Carl Beaird, Frankie Engram, Clifton Jones, Clifford Jones, Fonie Swaim, A. T. Singleton, Sibert Hardin, Ralph Stevens, C. D. Wood, June Wood, Myron Morrison, Jesse Carroll, Charles Royal, and Charles Branum. Tharon E. Stallings, Scoutmaster of Troop 43, will not attend the roundup.

About 12 members of Troop 41 and perhaps several Scouts of Troop 42 will also be in Cape Girardeau tonight.

INSTRUCTOR'S MOTHER REPORTED NEAR DEATH

Glenn S. Duncan, instructor in manual training at the Sikeston high school, left here Thursday morning for his home in Excelsior Springs, Mo., where his mother was reported dying.

Mr. Duncan spent last weekend in Excelsior Springs to be with his mother, who has been an invalid for some time, suffering from a complication of diseases and most recently from a paralytic stroke, but he returned here to teach his classes this week.

SAFETY COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY MAYOR

Five members of a committee of seven appointed by Dr. G. W. Presnell for the furtherance of safety and the prevention of accidents met in the offices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the McCoy Tanner building Monday evening to organize and to discuss plans for a safety campaign which will be started soon.

After hearing the purpose of the committee explained by Robert Dempster, city attorney, the men present discussed requesting Boy Scouts to direct traffic at the grammar school and on other well traveled city streets during the times when children are entering and leaving school and decided to meet again Monday evening.

Members of the committee are Roy V. Ellise, superintendent of schools and chairman of the group; M. M. Beck, president of the Lions club; E. F. Schorle, president of the Chamber of Commerce; C. L. Blanton, Sr., and C. H. Denman, publishers of Sikeston's newspapers; Pete Medley, manager of the Malone Theater, and B. A. Kersting, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company offices here.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Diane Lovering is married to Richard Field, forty-eight and wealthy. She is really in love with Mike Bradley, whom she has met on a trip to Buenos Aires, made while Field adjusted his marital affairs at the time he was her lover. Arriving home, Richard confronts her with news of his divorce, before she can tell him of Mike. She cannot let him down, for the whole world knows he has done this for her. Her letter to Mike has simply said that "luxury is more important than love." They meet accidentally a year later. Mike takes her to a private restaurant. They find they still love each other, but Diane gives him up. At home, fearful of breaking her good resolutions, she persuades Richard to motor to Lake Placid that night. Next morning, Mike walks in telling Field of Diane and himself. After a bitter quarrel, Field suddenly dashes to the gun-rack in the room.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER TWELVE (Conclusion).

Strong Souls.

As Richard's hand shot out towards the rack and reached for a gun, Diane opened her mouth to scream. But only a tiny, ludicrous squeak issued from her paralyzed throat. Mike's whole frame stiffened as he stood ready for—he knew not what.

It was only when Richard lifted the gun from the rack that Diane found her voice. With a wild, terrified shriek, she ran to Mike and planted herself before him as a human shield.

"Richard—no—it's Mike!—" Her voice rose and broke. Even then, even in this near danger to Mike, she half caught herself. Her fingers went to her mouth, for in that instant she realized she had betrayed herself.

Richard withdrew his hand from the gun, turned and looked at them both. He had heard it then—from her own lips!

Of a sudden he felt spent and weary; his knees sagged a little. He who prided himself on his physical fitness, knew, in that clairvoyant moment, that this crisis had aged him more in a few seconds than would all the changes of the next ten years to come. But when he spoke a quiet serenity had replaced his earlier fury.

"I know," he said, calmly. "I just wanted to be sure."

Mike and Diane heard him in stunned amazement. What had threatened to be a scene of violence and even of bloodshed had passed into one of peaceful quiet.

"James." Richard opened the door and spoke out the hall door.

"Sir?" James appeared, his unflinching eyes betraying no vestige of the perturbation he felt, for he had heard every word.

"Set another place," Richard directed him, coolly. "Perhaps Mr. Bradley will have breakfast."

It was the closest James had ever come, in all his years of servitude, to a personal display of feelings in regard to his employer's actions. But with admirable restraint he merely nodded and went towards the table.

Richard followed him. Mike, in silent wonder, waited expectantly, while Diane could only gaze at him. Did Richard really mean this? Or what did he mean? Her head spun. Things had happened with such dizzying rapidity that she seemed to be in a fog of bewilderment.

As James set another place for Mike at the table, Richard held his hands over Diane's shoulders. "Your jacket, my dear." In fine consideration he preferred not to look at her as he spoke. Everything else he could manage, but there was a pain in his heart that he knew his eyes reflected and it was this that he wanted to save her.

He removed her jacket and Diane tried to meet his glance, still unable to believe what his every action seemed to be telling her. She slipped off her beret, and dropped it, with her jacket, on a chair.

"Now—some breakfast," Richard said. He went to the table as Mike and Diane's eyes still followed him. He held Diane's chair, and she, after a second's hesitation, dropped into it. With a quick gesture her hands went up to her face, covering it.

"Mr. Bradley." Richard indicated the other chair and Mike mechanically seated himself. Before taking his place at the table Richard stopped by a small radio set in a corner of the alcove back of his chair. He turned a volume dial.

"Wonder what's on," he murmured, manipulating the selector dial. Gradually the station came over. "While a blanket of ice covers the city this morning in the most severe storm since—" The practical matter-of-fact voice smote the ear incongruously in this room that had so recently been witness to the tensity of their varied human emotions. Richard quickly changed the station.

The dignified crescendo of an organ filled the room. It swelled like a soft mantle of peace over all of them. Richard nodded his appreciation and sat down.

They were placed on three sides of the square table, Diane between them. Her face was still in her hands as she sat there—rigid. For one—or two—or even fifty seconds her consciousness could not grasp the fact that this thing had happened. Detachedly she tried to stand outside herself—to clarify to herself its full import.

Richard waited while James placed the grapefruit for her and Mike, then he motioned to them with his spoon.

He addressed Mike pleasantly. "You say you have a ranch down in the Argentine?" The effort that his every word and gesture had cost him in the past few minutes was beginning to repay him in dividends. For he could speak now with a naturalness and relaxation that was quite genuine.

Mike wanted to shout his admiration for Richard—for his gallantry and courage. Instead he said, "That's right. Like to have you see it some time," he added with simple unaffectedness.

"Like to." Richard replied heartily. "What do you raise, cattle?"

"Some. Mostly horses. Thoroughbreds and ponies."

"Oh." Richard stopped, remembering poignantly a night some months past at Madison Square Garden. "Er—you don't happen to have a pure white horse down there, do you?" he asked, deceptively, in an over-casual voice.

"Sure have." Mike's eyes snapped enthusiastically. "Good stock horse. Arabian, too."

"Did he ever stumble with you?" Richard asked, smiling slyly.

Mike grinned. "Not yet."

"Well," and Richard glanced at Diane, "just a word of caution. Don't let him. I don't think she'd like it."

He smiled at Diane and she slowly lifted her eyes to him. They were filled with tears and a tender, grateful love. She knew that he was thinking of the incident of the horse show, and she returned his smile with a strange and reminiscent one that said, "I did do that then. Even then I gave myself away."

In this silent communion she and Richard were closer together than they had ever been before. For a curious, suspended minute Richard tried to imagine what it would have been like to have had her for a daughter and with a gladness that he did not try to analyze he knew that Mike was just the sort of young man he would have been happy for her to have loved. He looked away now so that she could let her eyes receive the tears which had been pounding at him like a floodgate.

"How's the climate down there, Mike? Still good for raising children, too?"

"None better."

Diane impulsively took Richard's hand. He patted it paternally.

"I've a pair of great boys, Mike," he boasted. "Last time I saw them they couldn't decide whether to go to Harvard or Yale. Guess their mother and I ought to get together and help 'em." He chuckled ruefully. "I was Princeton '06." He nodded to Mike in slow conscious acknowledgment of the futility of his age against this youth. "That's a long time ago, Mike."

Diane sobbed openly. "Richard—I—can't say—anything—"

"You aren't supposed to. Is she, Mike?"

Mike grinned, although there was an odd catch in his throat. "Nope." He suddenly extended his hand. "Say—we didn't shake when I came in."

"That's right." Richard grasped his hand firmly across the table. Both turned to Diane, who looked from one to the other, tears running down her cheeks, a mixture of emotions in her face, of joy and admiration for both these two splendid, dearly beloved men of hers.

"Here—start eating," Richard admonished them. "She won't get grapefruit like that down in the Argentine, will she, Mike?"

"Not unless our best friend in the States sends us some now and then," Mike topped him.

They all attacked the grapefruit. Richard smiled back at Diane, glad for her happiness, then grinned at Mike. All three felt their hearts expand with love and generous admiration for each other. It was a rare and beautiful moment—this spiritual commingling of three strong souls who had hurdled a major crisis in their lives with bravery, delicacy and decency.

Another place, another climate, and Reno was just a fast-fading memory as Diane sat back in the car that was rapidly bringing her and Mike nearer to the ranch. Dreamily she noted again the great wide spaces and thought to herself, that this time they meant home.

As the car drove in the gate, Pablo and Johnny excitedly ran out to meet them. After their loud and hearty greetings Mike shooed them away. He wanted to be alone with Diane these first few moments.

The new wing caught her eye. "Why, the house has grown up, Mike", she exclaimed, delightedly.

"Sure." He lifted her out of the car. "Like us."

At the very door of the house Diane stopped him and murmured in his ear. "Do you remember what you said, Mike? No matter how you spell it—whether there's a sun—or a moon—or its raining—"

"It's love," he finished for her with a soft kiss. Then he carried his bride across the threshold and shut out the world.

THE END.

Mike suddenly extended his hand. "Say—we didn't shake when I came in."

Building a Better State

GIRLS—STAY IN YOUR HOME TOWNS

By Miss Stella A. Miner,
Girls Service League of America

"Dad has a job at last, but it is only part time and there is a big family of us and we owe everybody. I just can't bear to stay home any longer and be another mouth to feed. What are my chances of getting a job in New York? My girl friends' aunt is going East and she says I can sit in the rumble. Please answer before she starts."

Letters similar to the above are found all too frequently in the morning mail at the Girls' Service League in New York City. Between the lines we read many a young girls' restlessness and despair at finding work in her home town. They do not all write in advance and they do not all have a rumble seat offered. Many a girl hitch-hikes all the way or comes by bus when the distance is not too great for her slender purse.

Recently advertisements offering work in the big cities have appeared in small town papers, especially in New England and the Middle West, and these have tempted the out of town girl to make an effort to reach the city and apply for the offered job. It is difficult to see how any one could be so cruel in the serious times and yet there are so-called agencies systematically exploiting girls and boys who are out of work. So let me warn any young person not to pay a fee in advance to any agency promising a job in New York and indeed not to go to any large city at the present time in the hope of finding a job.

Too many disillusioned and stranded girls come to the Girls' Service League for shelter or aid in getting back home for us not to want to do everything in our power to stem the tide. These girls are most homesick of all.

Such a girl was Sarah (not her real name of course). She had exactly 25 cents left of the $9 she had brought from home. She expected to enter her nurse's training in a big hospital, but on a personal interview was turned down. She hadn't thought to mention a disfiguring scar. It really wasn't bad, yet the hospital knew it would handicap her chances in getting work. This only shows how uncertain it is to attempt to get a job by correspondence even if you are dealing with reliable people.

We realize fully that the pressure of unemployment is still pushing the young girl out, but I want to say, make the most of your free time while you are home by study and practice at new and oil skills. Investigate all available sources of such instruction. These opportunities have been greatly increased through Federal and State aid. Then when a job comes your way, as it surely must if you are equipped and ready, you will be glad that you did not leave home. You will have done the most difficult thing of all, stuck by the family and weathered the storm.

Will Rogers and Edward O'Fearna, assistant to John Ford, who directed Will in "Judge Priest", at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday, struck a compromise during the filming of the picture. O'Fearna agreed to call Rogers to the studio at exactly the time he was needed to start the day's work, instead of an hour or two earlier. In return Rogers agreed to come at the time he was called. Rogers doesn't mind early calls, but he can't stand waiting for something to happen, even a motion picture scene.

THIS WEEK IN NAVY HISTORY

Nov. 4, 1796.—Treaty of Peace concluded with Tripoli, causing suspension in building of three frigates out of six authorized.

Nov. 5, 1782.—U. S. S. America, the first line battleship built for our Navy launched at Portsmouth.

Nov. 5, 1892.—U. S. S. Olympia launched at San Francisco.

Nov. 5, 1903.—The Republic of Panama is recognized as an independent power by the United States.

Nov. 7, 1861.—U. S. Gunboats Tyler and Lexington cover retreat of Grant's army at Belmont, saving it from rout.

Nov. 8, 1861.—The Trent affair. The U. S. Frigate San Jacinto stopped the British ship Trent and removed Confederate Minister to France, John Sidell, and Confederate Minister to England, James Mason, as prisoners of war. The British Government demanded an apology; diplomatic exchanges followed, the U. S. formally apologized, and the two Confederate Ministers were released.

Nov. 9, 1800.—U. S. Frigate George Washington arrived at Constantinople.

Nov. 9, 1812.—U. S. Squadron attacked town of Kingston, Can.

Nov. 10, 1775.—Congress passed a resolution authorizing an organization of marines. By every resolution of Congress, concerning the manning of vessels of the Continental Navy, Congress had authorized marines, for marines were as much a part of the crew as seamen.

Nov. 10, 1812.—Three vessels belonging to British forces captured on Lake Ontario.

Will Rogers, star of "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday, sings for the first time in many a moon in this new Fox film. Together with a group of negroes, Will chants "My Old Kentucky Home" at one point in this comedy-drama of the Old South, written by Irvin S. Cobb.

A Nine Million Dollar Load—

—taken off the taxpayers' shoulders

Electric, Gas and Water Companies of Missouri pay TAXES of . . . . . More than $9,000,000 per year.

How much is nine million dollars a year?

It is over one thousand dollars every hour. More than a dollar every four seconds.

It is twice the state appropriation for schools. It would pay for police protection for every city and town in Missouri.

It is equal to all the gasoline taxes collected by the State of Missouri in a year

It would build a concrete highway from St. Louis to Kansas City.

It would build a courthouse for every county in the state.

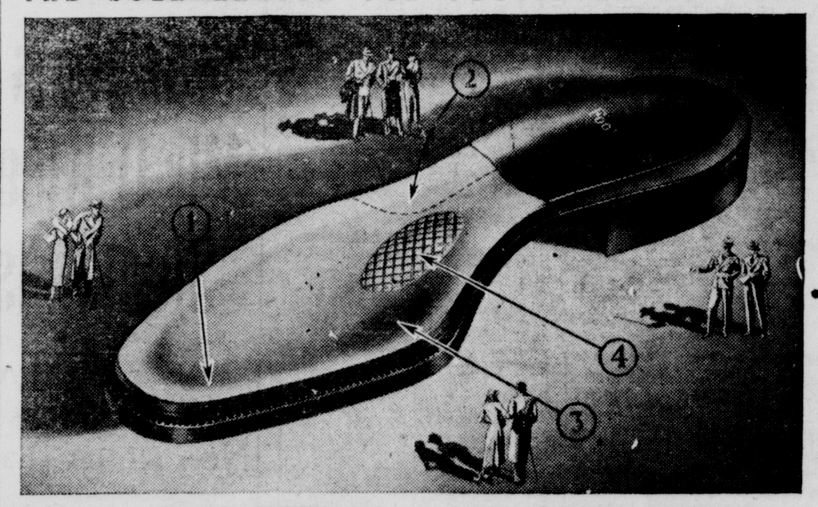

It would pay the fire protection costs of the whole State of Missouri.

Nine million dollars is the amount of TAXES paid every year by the public utilities of Missoudi . . . . . the companies which provide your electric, gas and water service. A nine-million dollar load taken off the shoulders of the citizens, because otherwise it would be levied upon the people directly.

Just why any Democrat should vote a split ticket this time, or any other time, is the question before the meeting. If you are a hide bound Republican and have not been aided or helped in any way by the Democratic administration, then you should vote the straight Republican ticket which calls for Hoover times again. There is no man on the Republican ticket that is more competent to fill any of the offices than are the Democratic nominees. Now let's see about some of them. During Senator Patterson's more than five years in the United States Senate no one has ever heard of him championing any measure that might help the farmer or the unemployed. Though we do know that he was partisan enough to vote against every measure that President Roosevelt advocated in his efforts to help those who needed help. Next in line for an important position comes Stephen Barton, Republican candidate for Circuit Judge. During the last campaign he was one of the most bitter partisans that ever took the stump and still he asks for Democratic support in order that he might be elected. He is a nice gentleman and a good citizen but that doesn't make him fit timber for a high judicial position. Then comes George W. Kirk who seeks to be prosecuting Attorney of Scott County. He is another partisan spellbinder out of a job. He says he is well qualified for the job, and we expect he is, but why Democrats should vote for him over our Democratic nominee is beyond us, and we don't believe they will. Our nominee, W. P. Wilkerson, is a graduate of the University of Missouri, too, and is amply qualified to fill the job of Prosecuting Attorney of Scott County to which he is sure to be elected next Tuesday. Of course everybody knows "Cousin Ed" and love and respect him, but he is going to have a terrific battle to overcome "Daddy" at the polls. We didn't know he was a Republican until he was selected postmaster at Sikeston. Sorry, "Cousin Ed", but you will go up Salt River or we miss our guess.

If Judge Harry S. Truman, Democratic nominee for United States Senator, had no virtues of his own to recommend him, and he is an able and an efficient person, he should be elected on the demerits of his Republican opponent, Roscoe Conklin Patterson, says Tom Bodine in The Paris Mercury. Patterson is an uncompromising partisan. There is no record that he has at any time cast a ballot in the United States Senate save such as was motivated by partisan bigotry and partisan malice. He is viewed throuout the country as a compiete nonenity, a partisan rubber stamp, a man who knows his master's voice and leaps at every command. He belongs to big business absolutely and has never cast a progressive ballot of any kind. He is a stand-patter and a reactionary of the most ignorant type, a man without ability and without vision. Millions could starve and Patterson would still be voting in the interest of predatory wealth and playing the game of the group he thought was most liable to furnish Republican campaign funds.

FIELD AND STREAM NOTES

The next major open season for Missouri hunters is Nov. 10, when quail and woodcock may legally be killed for a period of 51 days—until Dec. 31. The bag limit on quail is 10 with a possession limit of 15.

Game Warden Vernon Bennett of Branson reports a good supply of wild turkey in South Missouri. There seems to be a good crop of acorns this year, providing abundance of feed for the winter months, he says. There is also a good nut crop causing squirrels to congregate in the wooded areas in large numbers. The squirrel season does not close until Nov. 30. The turkey season opens Dec. 1.

While the open season on trout closes Oct. 31, other species of game fish may be taken until April 1. Bass and crappie fishing is about the best it has been all year. Other varieties are also biting and the cooler weather and improved water conditions have helped to fill creels.

Large flights of mallards and pintails arrived on the Cut-Off Lake, southeast of Brunswick, over the week end, and many hunters bagged their limit during the three days. The main flight of mallards has not arrived.

The scarcity of food in the north probably is the reason for the large number of early geese seen in the state.

Ben M. Layton of Ferguson, has been appointed work superintendent at the Roaring River State Park CCC camp, SP-4, succeeding James L. Anding, who resigned. The new superintendent is a graduate of the Rolla School of Mines.

Fur bearing animals may be taken Nov. 15 to Jan. 15.

Chester Claghorn of Marion, Ill., spent last Saturday night here with his sister, Mrs. George Borger and family.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

WITH the exception of the best eggs, butter, oranges and fresh tomatoes, marketers will find most food prices easy on their pocketbooks. Meats are reasonable, with loin and round cuts of beef and legs of lamb especially attractive.

Certain vegetables are somewhat higher, but a wide selection of low cost vegetables is still available. Among them will be found white and sweet potatoes, yellow onions, rutabaga turnips, carrots, beets and cabbage. Green and wax beans, spinach, cauliflower and broccoli are moderately priced, while green peas and lima beans are high.

Grapefruit is outstanding in quality and price. Both cooking and eating apples should be very reasonable.

The following menus are made up from the latest market news available.

Low Cost Dinner

Beef, Pork and Veal Loaf
Mashed Potatoes Scalloped Tomatoes
Bread and Butter
Caramel Pudding
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Beef a la Mode Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower
Bread and Butter
Snow Pudding Custard Sauce
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Fruit Cup
Roast Lamb Riced Potatoes
Broccoli, Maitre d'hotel
Tomato Salad
Hot Rolls and Butter
Maple Nut Ice Cream
Coffee Milk

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the illness and death of our beloved son and brother, Paul Ruskin Daugherty. Especially do we thank Rev. Margrave for his consoling words, Albritton for their service and those that gave flowers.

CHAPTER I
Spring Practice

Pop Clark, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, stood on the edge of the field with the young and alert sports reporter Jimmie Downey, watching the team at its first practice game under the Florida sunshine. There was an anxious frown on his forehead and it deepened when he heard the coach bawling out "Sad Sam" Briscoe, who fumbled an easy ball at third base.

"Listen, rookie," yelled the coach, "when you see that ball coming your way forget everything in the world but that ball!"

Briscoe shifted uneasily and "Sugar" Kane, another member of the team and a southerner, drawled: "That's what I was gonna say."

The coach whirled upon "Sugar" with a snarl "And that goes for you, too!"

A snigger ran along among the inevitable line of rail-birds who had gathered to watch the spring practice. "They ought to call Pop Clark's team Champagne—it's been in the cellar so long," mumbled one young enthusiast for the game. "Looks like it's going to stay there," came back his fellow, and both of them laughed.

Pop Clark squirmed uneasily and glanced out of the corner of his eye at Jimmie who, although a personal friend, he knew was shrewd enough when it came to judging a baseball team.

"Well, Jimmie, as a newspaper man, what do you think of my boys this time?"

"As a newspaper man, Pop, I can't tell a lie—they're terrible!"

Pop Clark leaned down confidentially. "Pin this in your hat, son: I've got a great team this year."

"I'm for you, Pop," smiled Jimmie, "but the wise money is offering twenty to one you won't cop the flag."

"It may be wise money, Jimmie, but it ain't wise to one thing—I've signed up Larry Kelly!"

"Larry Kelly—Larry Kelly? Just who is he, Pop?"

Pop gasped in outraged astonishment. "Don't you ever read the papers? Larry Kelly has been the whirlwind pitcher in the Texas League for two seasons. He's got all kinds of stuff—a fast one with a loop on it—a great change of pace, perfect control and the best delivery since Matthewson. He gets in today." He squinted at the sports writer "You mean to say you never heard of him?"

Jimmie gave short burst of laughter "Sure, Pop. He's a great base-baller. And take it from a humble newspaper man, you need one!"

At that moment Larry Kelly was entering the office of Frances Clark, Pop's pretty daughter and secretary of the club. She presented such an eye-filling picture that Larry set down his grip and his baseball paraphernalia, and stood looking at her with pleasureable surprise.

"Well, well," he said at length. "A pretty girl!"

"Compliment received, noted and forgotten," said Frances, after one recognizing glance, and continued with the papers on her desk.

"I'm Larry Kelly. Am I in the right place?"

"We'll answer that at the end of the season," riposted the girl.

"Ouch! Inside and low!" cried Larry, digging a fist into his side. "You're a pretty smart girl," he smiled.

"How would you know?"

"Boy! And I swung at that one too!"

She didn't answer his grin, but filled out a form. "Here's an order for your uniform, Mr. Kelly."

"You can call me Larry if you want to."

"I don't want to."

"Yeh? Well, don't! I'll go right on pitchin' ball the same as if we'd never met. We'll pass out of each other's lives—forget the whole thing!"

"The whole two minutes?" inquired Frances sweetly.

"The whole two min— Say, are you kidding me?"

"Why, of course not, Mr. Kelly." Her lips did their best to keep straight.

"Okay, but remember, we're—" he made a gesture with his hands that might be interpreted as "finished." He picked up his luggage and started for the door.

"Oh, by the way, Larry, after you get your uniform would you mind reporting back to me?"

Larry had whirled at her use of his given name, and he cried jubilantly "Would I mind?" and laughed good humoredly. "Would I mind?" At the door he turned back to face her. "Say, you know that—" he again made that gesture with his hands "Well, it don't go. We're the same old pals."

When Frances came out on the field with Larry, the disgruntled coach was again yelling to the three rookies on the team: "Say, what's the matter with you guys? You handle that apple like it had teeth! And you skip around this lot like you had anvils tied to your feet—"

The coach shut his mouth with some amazement as the rookies came to life and put some pep into their playing, then turned to learn the cause: they had caught sight of pretty Frances Clark and were "showing off" in front of her, as even the old standbys did.

Frances and Kelly passed "Dunk" Spencer who turned eagerly to the girl with a big smile. "Hello, Miss Secretary!"

"Hello, Dunk. Oh, this is Larry Kelly. Dunk Spencer, Larry."

The two men shook hands, without warmth, eyeing each other with a vague instinct of hostility.

"Dunk led the team in hitting last year," said Frances.

"Yeah, but look where he led 'em!" said Larry jovially as he slapped Dunk heartily on the shoulder "Ha, ha! Just a crack, pal! I'll be seeing you." He took Frances's arms and passed on, not seeing the black look that Dunk Spencer shot after him.

Larry Kelly got the surprise of his young life a minute or two later when Frances led him up to Pop Clark and said: "Dad, this is Larry Kelly."

"Dad?" muttered the new player, with an astonished look at Frances, but had to turn his attention to Pop who had grabbed his hand and was pumping away at it with his friendly smile and a "Glad to see you, son."

"Er—glad to see you. Gosh, I didn't know you were her father! Kinda makes me feel like one of the family."

Pop shot a quizzical look at his daughter. "You two have met before?"

"Oh, yes," smiled Frances, "We've known each other for at least fifteen minutes."

Larry glanced at a sign clock. "Seventeen minutes," he corrected her.

Pop looked his new pitcher over with shrewd appraisal. "Well, Larry, it's great havin' you on the club, and now that you are here I guess you might as well show us something."

He called to the coach to bring the team up and introduced Larry to the bunch. "Truck" Hogan came up eating a hot dog and, as usual, arguing with O'Toole, the umpire, who had been unable to keep away from the spring practice. Hogan and O'Toole were old enemies and were at each other hammer and tongs.

"Ball players!" sneered O'Toole, "Ha, ha, ha!"

"Are they lettin' you empire again this year?" asked Hogan.

"What do you mean, 'lettin' me?' They begged me."

"Yeah? Well, it's time this league got some empires that's got eyesight."

"Say, what's the matter with my eyesight?" demanded the umpire, sore.

"Nothin', only you can't see. A man has to settle down on first base and raise a family before you'll call him safe."

"How do you know? When did you ever reach first base?"

"Every time you wasn't empiring—that's when."

"Yeah? They don't call you 'Truck' Hogan for nothin'. You couldn't run out a two-bagger without strippin' your gears."

"Well, I'll tell you one thing, Crawfish—"

"Now listen, mug," cried the umpire, furious. "None of that 'Crawfish' stuff. My name's Terry O'Toole."

Hogan thrust his face almost against O'Toole's nose. "Your name's Crawfish—k-r-a-w, craw, f-i-s-h, fish; crawfish! And it ain't doin' the crawfish family no good at that."

"I'll fine you fifty bucks!" sputtered O'Toole.

"You can't fine me, Crawfish. You ain't empiring yet, Crawfish."

They stopped their argument as Pop Clark, anger in his eyes, strode towards them, then past them, on to the group of rail-birds watching the practice. Two men, furtive and shifty-eyed, started to draw away, but Pop caught up with them.

"Burke! Stevens! What are you hanging around here for?"

"I... We... Well, we thought we'd see about another chance on the team. We...We're O.K. now," the taller of the two men explained sullenly.

Pop exploded with anger. "Not with me. Or with anyone else if I can get to 'em. You're out of baseball because it's a clean game. Do you understand that? And you're going to stay out of baseball!"

The smaller man, Stevens, spoke up. "Won't you give a guy a chance?"

"Yes, but I won't take one—not with fellows like you. Now get out! And keep away from my players."

His face was red with anger as he watched them turn from his stern look and begin slinking away. Frances, who had stood a little apart, approached her father, an expression of concern, almost fear, on her face.

"They look dangerous, Dad."

"Dangerous!" cried Pop scornfully. "Rats like them?"

He strode back to his players and did not see the malevolent looks that Burke and Stevens, not having to face his eyes blazing with scorn and anger, sent after him.

Foundations Tell Inside Story Of Fashions For Larger Women

by Mme. LANE BRYANT
Noted Fashion Counselor

WHAT figure the Larger Woman will cut in the matter of dress is at times determined by her choice of foundation garments. They are the inside story of what she should wear.

To begin with, there are two major types of the Larger Woman One, we stylists call regular, and the other irregular.

Sketched to the right is a lady of regular proportions, in an all-in-one garment—which is the type she should wear. She is 44" bust, and may be anywhere from 46" to 49" hips. And while the lady to the left doesn't meet these measurements, because she is an irregular, she has achieved practically the same results with two separate garments.

But, if you are like the lady to the left and your problem is a large diaphragm, you would be wise to wear a corset a few inches higher at the waistline, and a longer brassiere attached to it. And regardless of type, if you are large through the shoulders, you should be wearing a garment with built-up top, instead of shoulder straps For extra control at the bust, there are brassieres of heavier fabrics, or all-in-ones with top of self-material—flat rather than shaped. Though, if you prefer the more youthful line at the bust, there are shaped or uplift types both in brassiere and all-in-one.

Both types of garments sometimes have inner belts which offer the double advantage of special support, and the nice flat look of an over-all top garment. Some are fitted, with curved elastic bands, to give particular support to pendulous abdomens.

The all-in-one shown here is made with coiled wire, instead of ordinary boning. This looks like a regular spring, flattened, and is preferred by women who don't like stiff boning.

But whether you prefer the stiff or the flexible boning, the garment you choose should support, and at the same time it should fit the body in motion. It should be so designed with inserts, hookings, and lacings as to give with every move you make. I feel that the Larger Woman should be thoroughly at ease in her clothes—at rest, at play, or even running for a street car.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. ONE

REPEALING SECTION 16, ARTICLE IV, AND ADDING NEW SECTION 16 TO MISSOURI CONSTITUTION.

(Submitted by General Assembly.)

Proposed amendment authorizing compensation to members General Assembly not exceeding thousand dollars per annum: thirty dollars incidental expenses: traveling expenses: mileage: all to members or committees.

JOINT AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTION submitting to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri an amendment to the Constitution thereof by repealing Section 16 of Article IV of said Constitution, and enacting a new Section 16 in lieu thereof relating to the compensation of members of the General Assembly, their expenses and the allowances, emoluments and expenses of employees and committees.

Be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives Concurring therein:

That at the general election to be held in the State of Missouri on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1934, or at a special election to be called by the Governor at his discretion prior to such general election, there shall be submitted to the qualified voters of this State, for adoption or rejection, the following proposed amendment to the Constitution, to-wit:

Section 1. That Section 16 of Article IV of the Constitution of Missouri be and the same is hereby repealed and a new section adopted in lieu thereof, to read as follows:

Section 16. The members of the General Assembly shall severally receive from the public treasury such compensation for their services as may from time to time be provided by law, not to exceed the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) per annum. In addition to such salary, the members shall be entitled to receive traveling expenses or mileage, for any regular and extra session not greater than now provided by law; but no member shall be entitled to traveling expenses or mileage for any extra session that may be called within one day after an adjournment of a regular session. Committees of either house, or joint committees of both houses, appointed to examine the institutions of the State, other than those at the seat of government, may receive their actual expenses, necessarily incurred while in the performance of such duty; the items of such expenses to be returned to the chairman of such committee, and by him certified to the State Auditor, before the same, or any part thereof, can be paid. Each member may receive at each regular session an additional sum of thirty dollars, which shall be in full for all stationery used in his official capacity, and all postage, and all other incidental expenses and perquisites; and no allowance or emoluments, for any purpose whatever, shall be made to or received by the members, or any member of either House, or for their use, out of the contingent fund or otherwise, except as herein expressly provided. No allowance or emolument, for any purpose whatever, shall ever be paid to any officer, agent, servant or employee of either House of the General Assembly, or of any Committee thereof, except such per diem as may be provided for by law, not to exceed Five Dollars ($5.00).

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. TWO

AMENDING SECTION 22, ARTICLE IX, CONSTITUTION OF MISSOURI.

(Submitted by the General Assembly.)

Amendment authorizing City of Saint Louis to provide, by charter, for election of chief executive: house or houses of legislation by general ticket or wards.

JOINT AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTION submitting to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri an amendment to Section 22, Article IX, of the Constitution thereof, concerning the City of St. Louis.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein, as follows:

That at the general election to be held in the state to be held on Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, A. D. 1934, the following amendment to section 22 of article IX of the Constitution of the State of Missouri, shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the state, to-wit: Section 22 of article IX of the Constitution of the State of Missouri is hereby amended by striking out in lines 9 and 10 the words "at least one house of legislation to be elected by general ticket" and inserting the following words in lieu thereof "for house or houses of legislation to be elected by general ticket or by wards" so that said section when amended shall read as follows:

Sec. 22. Charter, how amended and revised.—The charter so ratified may be amended by proposals therefor submitted by the lawmaking authorities of the city to the qualified voters thereof, at a general or special election held at least sixty days after the publication of such proposals and accepted by three-fifths of the qualified voters voting for or against each of said amendments so submitted; and the lawmaking authorities of such city may order an election by the qualified voters of the city of a board of thirteen freeholders of such city to prepare a new charter for such city, which said charter shall be in harmony with and subject to the Constitution and laws of the State, and shall provide, among other things, for a chief executive and for house or houses of legislation to be elected by general ticket or by wards. Said revised charter shall be submitted to the qualified voters of such city at an election to be held not less than twenty nor more than thirty days after the order therefor, and if a majority of such qualified voters voting at such election ratify such charter, then said charter shall become the organic law of such city, and sixty days thereafter shall take effect and supersede the charter of such city and all special laws inconsistent therewith.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. THREE

ADDING SECTION 47a TO ARTICLE IV.

(Submitted by initiative petition.)

Proposed amendment providing that the Constitution of Missouri shall not be construed to nor prohibit payments, from any public fund or funds, for benefits, upon retirement, disability or death, to persons employed and paid out of any public fund, for educational services, their beneficiaries or estates.

Section 1. That Article IV of the Constitution of Missouri be and the same is hereby amended by adding a new Section thereto immediately after Section 47 thereof to be known as Section 47a, and to read as follows:

Section 47a. Nothing in this Constitution contained shall be construed as prohibiting payments, from any public funds, into a fund or funds, for paying benefits, upon retirement, disability, or death, to persons employed and paid out of any public fund, for educational services, their beneficiaries, or their estates.

STATE OF MISSOURI,
Department of State.

I, Dwight H. Brown, Secretary of State of the State of Missouri, hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and complete copy of the two joint and concurrent resolutions of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly of the State of Missouri of the proposed amendments to the Constitution of the State of Missouri; also, of an amendment to the Constitution proposed by initiative petition, to be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri at the general election to be held on Tuesday, the sixth day of November, 1934.

In testimony whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Missouri. Done at office in the City of Jefferson, this 18th day of September, A. D. 1934.

(Seal) Secretary of State.

U. S. vs. Eighteen Bu., more or less Apples, U. S. vs. Twenty Bu., more or less Apples. UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S OFFICE - Eastern Judicial District of Missouri, Cape Girardeau, Missouri. October 23, 1934. To Whom It May Concern: Whereas, warrants of arrest and monition have been issued out of the Clerk's Office of the United States District for the Southeastern Division of the Eastern Judicial District of Missouri, in the case of the United States against Eighteen Bushels, more or less, Apples, Libel No. 762, and in the case of the United States against Twenty Bushels, more or less, Apples, Libel No. 761, in a cause of seizure and forfeiture, which warrants of arrest and monition are to me directed, and by virtue of which I have arrested and taken into my custody and possession Eighteen Bushels of Apples at Sikeston, Missouri, and Eighteen Bushels of Apples at Morley, Missouri (unlabeled); now, therefore, I hereby give notice of the arrest of said property and that the time assigned for the return of said warrants and hearings of said causes is on the 12th day of November, 1934 next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, and I hereby admonish and summon all persons claiming any interest in the said property or knowing or having anything to say why the same should not be forfeited to the United States, the libelant herein, and sold or destroyed to answer the demand of said libels in these causes, that they be and appear at and before the District Court of the United States of the Eastern District of Missouri, Southeastern Division, at its rooms in the Federal Building, Cape Girardeau, Missouri on the 12th day of November, 1934 next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day (when and where said causes will be heard) then and there to interpose their claim, answer said libels, and make their allegations in that behalf. WILLIAM B. FAHY, United States Marshal.

FLOWERS

I love to see the flowers in bloom;
They are like a ray of sunshine
in a sick room.
Some of them remind me of a bride and groom
Who are so full of love
And have no place for gloom.
Again they remind me of the human race
As they bow in the wind so full of grace.
But as time flies by
They fade and die.
It seems so sad
That one could cry.
Though God put them here on earth,
To fill our lives with love and mirth.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

THE "WHY" OF LENS STOPS

Two pictures, of the same subject and setting; one made with the lens wide open and the other with the lens drastically "stopped down." Note that there is no detail at all in the background of the snap made with wide open lens, while the other shows the distant bridge very well. If it's detail you want, cut down the lens opening!

PRACTICALLY all cameras, with the exception of a few extremely simple models, have some means of varying the amount of light passing through the lens. Why?

Well, why do you tend to squint in bright sunlight? Simply because there is so much light in the open sun that, unless you squint, your eyes cannot distinguish details; in the dark your eyes distend in order to take advantage of every available ray of light.

Cameras and eyes are much alike. Unless you control the amount of light entering the camera lens, you will almost certainly overexpose shots made in bright daylight and underexpose when the light is low.

Get out your camera and look at its lens. If yours is a simple box camera, you will find that the lens opening, or diaphragm, has two possible settings, one for average shots and one for use when the light is very brilliant. In certain other cameras diaphragm settings are arbitrarily numbered from 1 to 4, giving you that many opportunities to adapt your snapshooting to light conditions.

The best known system of diaphragm control is the "f" system, used on more advanced cameras. In this system "f" represents the ratio between the lens opening and the distance from the lens to the film. When some one says that he took a picture at f.11, he means that his lens was adjusted so that its opening was 1/11th of the lens-to-film distance. Obviously f.11 is a smaller opening than f.6.3 or f.4.5. Some cameras have extremely "fast" lenses, with f.1 or f.2 ratings, but you're perfectly well off with a lens rated at f.6.3. And there are many other lenses that are entirely satisfactory for snapshooting despite their low "f" classification.

Familiarize yourself with the various openings ("lens stops," if you want to be technical about it). Many cameras have built-in exposure guides which indicate the proper opening for various light conditions. But you will almost automatically set your lens properly if you let your eyes be your guide. If you find yourself squinting, stop the lens down; if your eyes open wide, without a sensation of glare, use a larger stop.

Stopping down a lens has another consequence. It increases the sharpness of the image and deepens the field of focus. But, you say, how can I do this if the light isn't very bright? Simply by increasing the time of the exposure.

It is the canny juggling of lens openings and exposure times that marks the experienced snapshooter. But don't let it bother you, if it seems a little confusing. Set your camera at about f.8 and 1/25th—and blaze away. Chances are you'll get the picture, and that is the important thing. If you're using modern film, it will automatically take care of a lot of variation from scientific accuracy in exposure. Happy hunting!

WHAT THE NEW DEAL HAS BROUGHT MISSOURIANS

(Figures, taken from Official Records, do not include expenditures after September 1, 1934)

Under the AAA adjustment program, Missouri Farmers have received $10,488,116.51, divided as follows: Corn-hog, $6,834,707.09; Wheat, $1,131,698.93; Cotton, $2,471,769.51; Tobacco, $49,941.05. . . . The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has also paid Missouri farmers $5,893,520.00 for drought cattle and sheep and $501,600.00 under the corn fodder purchase plan. . . . Relief activities, up to September 1, involved the expenditure in Missouri of $52,329,900.19; the greater part of it federal money, distributed as follows: Direct relief, $27,053,828.53; C. W. A., $22,005,742.47; C. W. S. (Women's work), $716,578.68; Relief commodities, $599,879.42; Garden program, $309,176.63; Education program, $712,641.34; Transient relief, $601,821.74; Student relief, $101,440.84; Drought relief, $220,712.79; Food conservation, $1,001.38; Rural rehabilitation, $7,077.37. . . . The Home Owner's Loan Corporation has advanced $50,000,000.00 to refinance loans on Missouri homes. . . . The C. C. C. program has resulted to date in the expenditure of $579,519.63 in Missouri of which $277,710.53 has been spent in State Park improvements and $273,233.47 on forestry work. . . . Under the P. W. A., $79,000,000.00 of construction work in Missouri, other than federal projects, has been approved, and $28,000,000.00 in federal loans and grants made. . . . Missouri has received in special federal grants for highway work under the New Deal the sum of $18,000,000.00. . . . Total amount spent $244,792,656.33.

Stop Chills and Fever!

Rid Your System of Malaria!

Shivering with chills one moment and burning with fever the next—that's one of the effects of Malaria. Unless checked, the disease will do serious harm to your health. Malaria, a blood infection, calls for two things. First, destroying the infection in the blood. Second, building up the blood to overcome the effects of the disease and to fortify against further attack.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic supplies both these effects. It contains tasteless quinine, which kills the infection in the blood, and iron, which enriches and builds up the blood. Chills and fever soon stop and you are restored to health and comfort. For half a century, Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic has been sure relief for Malaria. It is just as useful, too, as a general tonic for old and young. Pleasant to take and absolutely harmless. Safe to give children. Get a bottle at any store. Now two sizes—50c and $1. The $1 size contains 2½ times as much as the 50c size and gives you 25% more for your money.

MRS. JULIA PENNY

Mrs. Julia Penny, mother of Mrs. Essie Bryant of Sikeston, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. J. Washburn, in Illmo, Wednesday, following a paralytic stroke.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Illmo Baptist church, the Rev. Sam T. Mayo officiating. Burial was in the Lightner cemetery.

Mrs. Penny, who was 78 years old, had lived in Illmo since her husband's death 13 years ago. Besides Mrs. Bryant and Mrs. Washburn, she is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. Ida Smith, Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Anna Allen, Peoria, Ill.; and four sons, Stephen Penny, Cape Girardeau; John Penny and William Penny, both of St. Louis, and Grover Penny, Fornfelt.

Mrs. Penny had been staying in Sikeston, when she suffered the paralytic stroke, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jas. H. Bryant. Mrs. Bryant is a patient at the Frisco hospital in St. Louis, recently having undergone an operation for goitre.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS

The Sellards' Market has never tried to compete with the low prices that are possible on low quality meats, but we buy the very best quality and price it as low as possible according to quality. We also cut it right, wrap it right, and deliver it on time.

These are only a few things we have done to bring about the exceedingly large increase in volume of business which makes it necessary to employ another first class meat cutted. John Halters, who is well known, will assist in continuing the past good service.

We not invite you to step in our market since we have made improvements and redecorated. We think we have one of the cleanest and best looking markets to be had. We thank you for the business you have given us and feel sure it will continue as we intend to make it worthwhile to buy from us.

J. R. SELLARDS

Not much about them that isn't news! Solid colors in a novelty dobby weave, new chalk plaids and terry stripes . . . in striking fashions that charm with their good fit and stunning lines. Youthful, yes . . . but equally wearable for twelves or forty-fours. And as a final crowning virtue — washable!

How the Democratic Administration Has Helped You

The Democratic National Administration—

under the leadership of President Roosevelt has put the farmer back on his feet. The price of corn is more than four times as high as it was in 1932. The price of wheat has more than doubled. The price of hogs is nearly twice as high.

Through the corn loan act the farmers of Missouri have had at least $17,000,000 more to spend on groceries, clothes, automobiles, machinery and other necessary commodities.

This has helped YOU. Because of the increase in farm income, business in every city, town and village in Missouri has increased. More people now have jobs. Wages are higher. Working conditions are better and YOU have more security than you had two years ago.

Through other Democratic administration projects YOUR security has been increased. Your bank account is now safe. If not your home, the home of one of your neighbors has been saved to him because of the home loan act. Your farm or the farm of one of your neighbors has been saved for him through the farm credit administration. It is easy for you to think of a dozen other things the government has done for your benefit. These things have been done for YOU, and they have been done by a Democratic administration.

These are only a few of the many things which have been done for your benefit. These have all been done for YOU, and they have been done by a Democratic administration.

The Democratic Administration Has Helped YOU! Support It!

VOTE [X] DEMOCRATIC!

Democratic Candidate for United States Senator

Harry S. Truman, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, is in every sense a self-made man. Unable, because of financial reasons, to carry out his boyhood ambition to obtain a college education, he began by wrapping papers in a newspaper office, and was successively timekeeper for a railroad construction outfit, a bank clerk and a salesman. During the world war he served with distinction as an artillery officer, being under fire in the Meuse-Argonne and at Verdun, rising to the rank of Captain.

Since the war, Judge Truman has come to be recognized as one of the leading experts in the United States in county government and financial management. As presiding judge of the Jackson County Court, he has given that county one of the finest highway systems in America and has taken a prominent part in regional planning and reform in city and county assessments, tax collection, hospital management and other important governmental functions. He is known as a progressive citizen, a level headed executive, a quiet-spoken but energetic leader in public enterprises, an incorruptible official, a builder rather than a talker—a man who gets results.

Judge Truman is a native of Lamar, Mo., but has resided most of his life in Jackson county. He is a member of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a thirty-second degree Mason and a Shriner, and belongs to the Baptist church. He is married and lives with his wife and daughter in Independence. When elected, it is universally admitted, he will be one of the most popular and useful Senators Missouri has ever sent to Washington.

HARRY S. TRUMAN
Democratic Candidate for United States Senator

Democratic Candidate for State Superintendent of Schools

Lloyd W. King, Democratic nominee for State Superintendent of Schools, was born in Marion county, near Palmyra, in 1892. He attended the schools of Palmyra and graduated from William Jewell College at Liberty, and later received his Master's degree from the University of Missouri. He married Miss Adaline Miles of Shelbina, and has one daughter, thirteen years old. Mr. King began his teaching career at Palmyra. He served as principal of the High School at Memphis, Missouri, for two years, and for two years was principal of the Shelbina high school.

When the United States entered the World War, he enlisted as a private in the 19th Machine Gun Battalion. He served overseas for twelve months, and was commissioned at Combat Officers' Training School at Langres, France. Upon his return to the United States he did thrift work for the United States Training Department in schools of the 8th Federal District for a year. In 1921 he was elected Superintendent of Monroe City schools where his record as a school administrator and a school executive is outstanding. He is past president of the Northeast Missouri Teachers' Association, president of the Missouri State High School Athletic Association and past president of the Northeast Missouri School Masters' Club.

He has been very active in civic affairs, and is a former president of the Monroe City Chamber of Commerce. He is also Past Commander of Edgar McCann Post No. 263 American Legion; president of the local board of stewards of the M. E. Church, South.

His past experience and success in school affairs is the best assurance that Mr. King will make Missouri a great Superintendent of schools.

LLOYD W. KING
Democratic Candidate for State Superintendent of Schools

Democratic Candidate for Judge of Supreme Court, Div. No. 1

John T. Fitzsimmons, Democratic candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, Division No. 1, entered the law after a general experience as newspaper reporter and editor and as chief deputy clerk of the circuit court of the city of St. Louis. His experience also includes a short term as judge of the circuit court of his native city and nearly four years as Commissioner of the Missouri Supreme Court by appointment of the judges of that court.

Judge Fitzsimmons is a native of St. Louis and was educated in the public schools of that city and St. Louis University. He is a member of the American, Missouri and St. Louis bar associations, and is regarded as one of the best equipped men in the state for high judicial honors. This fact is attested by his record-breaking vote in the recent primary election, when he led the entire field. His strength in rural Missouri, both in this year's primary and that of 1932, was especially noticeable.

Judge Fitzsimmons was married in 1900 to Miss Susan Gertrude McCluskey, and they have four children.

JOHN T. FITZSIMMONS
Democratic Candidate for Judge of Supreme Court Division No. 1

Democratic Candidate for Judge of Supreme Court, Div. No. 2

C. A. Leedy, Jr., of Kansas City, is the Democratic candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, Division No. 2, at the coming November election. Judge Leedy is a native of Benton, Scott county, Mo., his parents having been Charles A. and Laura (Gray) Leedy. He was educated in the public and high schools at Cameron and Plattsburg and at Missouri Wesleyan College. He studied law at the St. Joseph Law School and under Judge Alonzo D. Burnes, of the fifth judicial circuit, while acting as court reporter for the circuit, in which capacity he served from 1912 to 1925, except during 1918-19 while engaged in the military service. He served as official reporter of the proceedings of the Peace Conference at Paris and Versailles, which resulted in the Treaty of Versailles.

Judge Leedy was admitted to the bar at Plattsburg in January, 1922, and in 1925 removed to Kansas City, where he formed an association with H. G. Leedy, his brother, and continued in the general practice until February 14, 1933, when he was appointed by governor Guy B. Park as Judge of the Supreme Court for a term ending December 31, 1934, to succeed Judge Clarence A. Burney, deceased.

He was married to Miss Agnes Hudson of Plattsburg, Mo., February 15, 1920, and they have one son, William Hudson, now six years of age. During his term on the bench, Judge Leedy has made a reputation for his fair and impartial decisions and a brilliant future is predicted for him.

CHIEF INSPECTOR

Joseph B. Weaver of Cambridge, Mo., who was appointed director of the bureau of navigation and steamboat inspection by Secretary of Commerce Roper. He replaces Arthur J. Tyrer, former head of the navigation service, and Dickinson N. Hoover of the inspection service, who conducted the inquiry into the Morro Castle disaster in New York. The two, however, will remain as assistants to Mr. Weaver.

RED CROSS RELIEF GIVEN TO VICTIMS IN 103 DISASTERS

Tornadoes, Fires, Hurricanes, Floods, Epidemics, Make Record of Year

A history of the disasters in the United States in any year is written annually by the American Red Cross, according to Chairman John Barton Payne, commenting on the report for the year ending June 30, 1934, which has just been issued in Washington.

"Because of the charter provision which places upon the Red Cross the responsibility for disaster relief, our chapter and staff workers are notified of all calamities of storm and fire and flood," he continued. "The emergency period may prove to be brief, in cases where the victims have their own resources to draw on. While it lasts, however, whether it brings the immediate need of food, clothing and shelter for the homeless, or entails a program of investigation and rehabilitation, the Red Cross is the official director of all relief."

A great variation in type, and a wide geographical distribution, characterize the 103 disasters reported last year. Tornadoes, hurricanes, hailstorms and other storms made up almost one half of the total. Especially numerous were the tropical storms which swept in from the sea to the Atlantic and Gulf Coast region. There were 21 storms of this type, establishing a new record for frequency.

Next in number to storms were disasters of fire, the report shows. Red Cross aid was given following 25 fires in the United States and insular posessions. The most spectacular was the Chicago stockyards fire, where Red Cross workers arrived shortly after the fire started, administering relief until the emergency period passed, giving first aid to about 1,000 persons.

Floods caused serious damage in some sections, 17 calling for Red Cross relief. Three explosions were reported and three epidemics of malaria and typhoid fever. A school bus wreck was one of the year's tragedies for which Red Cross funds were needed for relief and rehabilitation.

"Technique acquired by the Red Cross in these disasters and the hundreds of others we have handled is at the service of the public," Chairman Payne said. "To make this possible the disaster relief service has issued a manual containing instructions for chapters interested in advance preparations for emergencies. Disaster institutes were held last year in 28 strategic locations, to enable Red Cross and civic workers to formulate plans for possible disaster emergencies in their communities.

Support of the disaster relief activities of the Red Cross comes from the annual roll call held each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

First aid certificates were issued by the Red Cross last year to 130,972 persons who finished the course of instruction put on by the chapters. Included in this list were more than 70,000 foremen, time clerks and other key employes on Federal Civil Works projects. Further evidence of the government's endorsement of the first aid program is found in projects now under way where Red Cross chapters, at the request of the War Department, are giving first aid instruction in CCC camps. Where it has been requested by Army engineers the same instruction is also made available to key men working on federal water conservancy and flood control projects.

War Veterans' Problems Increase

Last year American Red Cross chapters dealt with the problems of nearly 400,000 veterans and their families. The workers find that as the years go on their responsibility increases rather then decreases. Changes in legislation, the increasing age of veterans and the consequent increase in physical ills, bring new needs for sympathetic treatment by trained Red Cross workers. In addition to this service to veterans the Red Cross served as the official medium between the people and the men in military and naval service, giving aid through this service last year to 6,979 men in the army, navy and marine corps.

Busy Year for Volunteers

Red Cross volunteers made nearly five million garments last year; they prepared 342,366 pages of hand-transcribed braille and 314,788 by the duplicated process; 16,132 Christmas bags, 3,678,831 surgical dressings and 18,475 layettes were prepared, and many other valuable community services were reported by chapter volunteers.

FINDS BANKS WILLING BORROWERS CAUTIOUS

Prominent Writer Refutes Statements Bankers Are Refusing Sound Loans—Describes Reasons for Reduced Volume of Credit.

FIGURES supplied by typica., well managed banks in different parts of the country show that a high proportion of all applications for loans have been granted in the past year or two, says Albert W. Atwood in a recent article in The Saturday Evening Post on "The Idle Dollar." Excerpts from Mr. Atwood's article follow:

"Frequently banks state that as high as 90 per cent of all such applications are granted and for from 60 to 75 per cent of the amount asked for. Allowing that the bankers make these figures as favorable to their own case as possible, it seems strange that we are told again and again that banks are not lending.

"If we take into account the whole class of regular bank borrowers, the plain fact is very few want to borrow yet. For the word 'borrow' is merely another name for the word 'debt,' and we face a great world-wide drive to get out of debt.

"An experienced small-city banker, asked if banks were lending freely enough, wisely replied: 'The really good borrower does not wish to borrow now. In fact, I think our customers are making a remarkably fine showing in paying off their loans, especially loans of long standing.'

The Shrinkage of Credit

"Or if we think of business concerns rather than of individuals, it is conservative to say that those able to maintain high credit ratings have been mostly the ones able to maintain ample cash resources and, therefore, least in need of credit. As prices and costs fell, many concerns found themselves with plenty of cash because of the shrinkage in operations. Cash resources were still further swollen by reduced dividends, and smaller inventories made bank borrowings still less necessary.

"Expressed in another way, banks cannot expand credit, they cannot make loans, unless there is a demand for the same. Fundamentally, the business transaction makes the loan, the loan does not make the transaction. It is a mistake to try to force upon business organizations funds which they do not need. Under the circumstances, the 'idle dollar' is a natural and proper enough phenomenon. A demand for credit is difficult to create artificially, and there is always danger in so doing.

"Banks must be liquid enough at all times to pay depositors. The idea of a commercial loan is that it represents a self-liquidating process in business. If the banker makes only those advances that are inherently sound, and selects his maturities wisely, he will have incoming funds to meet demands.

Government Lending

"As everybody knows, the Government has vast lending agencies, for home owners, farmers, and the like. These have nothing to do with the subject of this article, except that all such Government operations would be impossible if the banks did not lend the Government money for the purpose.

"No one can set a time when borrowing will be resumed. But it will come when men once more feel that conditions are sufficiently settled to warrant them in taking chances, in entering upon deals, and in trying to make money."

Mr. Atwood says that it may be that the banks are overcautious now just as they were overconfident in 1929, but calls attention to the fact that until a little more than a year ago banks were failing "partly because they had loaned too freely, and were being criticized right and left for precisely that." He adds:

"Indeed, the banks which had been cautious in their lending policy came through the crisis safely. Under such conditions it is utterly useless to criticize banks for not making loans. After the experience they had for several years, especially in 1932 and 1933, it is only natural that they should relax their requirements very slowly and gradually.

"Unfortunately, many of the applications for loans are not from people who want temporary banking accommodations for three or six months and are quite able to meet their maturity dates, but are from those who really need permanent capital. They are busted and they want some-paid on demand, and, therefore, it is a grave question whether banks should tie up their funds for any length of time."

Banks Reduce R. F. C. Debts

Of $1,680,000,000 in loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to banks of all classes since it began operations in February 1932, the sum of $1,090,000,000, or 65 per cent, has been repaid.

This is a considerably higher ratio of repayment than to all other classes of borrowers. All told, The R. F. C. has advanced $4,550,000,000 to non-governmental borrowers, of which $2,170,000,000, or only 48 per cent, has been repaid.

Buffaloes Widely Used

Two million buffaloes are used in Java's rice fields.

Adventure Is Ended, Back to Pop

When Ben and Joe Adamowicz of Brooklyn returned from Europe the other day not one newspaper man was on hand to welcome them and listen to their stories of their great adventure—an airplane flight from New York to Warsaw, Poland. So Ben and Joe quietly resumed their soda pop business. They sold their plane in Warsaw for $22,000.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

School Ahead! Pictures, Too!

Excitement is part of the picture at any football game. It's easily worth the missing of one play to get an over-the-shoulder shot like this!

ABOUT this time of year, school is in everybody's mind; not only students and teachers, but parents, aunts, and uncles.

And if there ever was a snapshooters' paradise, it's school. It may be a one-room school or it may be a great university. Wherever, whatever it may be, it's crammed with unbeatable picture possibilities.

Yet we might as well face the silly fact of the matter—few snapshooters make the most of school's snapshooting opportunities.

Perhaps they are dazzled by the ry wealth of the material at and. More likely, they assume that somebody else is going to take the pictures. And that's a fatal mistake. For nobody else can see things as you see them. And it's what you see that means most to you—and to the folks at home, now or years from now.

The question, then, is how to make the most of school's picture possibilities. A little planning will do the trick.

First, about the right camera for school. Any camera will do, providing it is clean and in good order and uses a size of film that is easily available anywhere. If yours has a fast lens and a fast shutter, you'll have an advantage in taking shots at sporting events, but such a camera is not at all essential. With a little care you can make even the simplest box camera turn out entirely satisfactory pictures.

Then, how can snapshooting be planned? All of it, of course, cannot be planned, but many of the most important shots can be. Why not work out a scenario, Hollywood fashion?

First of all, whether school's just around the corner or a thousand miles away, you'll want a few good shots of home. Then a view or two taken on the way to school. Maybe those views seem commonplace now, but wait a few years....

At school, of course, there are the obvious shots of the buildings, the grounds, new classmates, teachers, old friends, sports, picnics, class ceremonies, and so on. It's a good idea to take them so as to form a kind of continued story. Then, when they are mounted in your album, the pictorial story will flow along evenly.

It's easy to plan ahead for the kind of pictures mentioned above. But don't forget the spontaneous things.

For example, if there's an exciting football game, try the trick of shooting blindly back over your shoulder into the crowd at an exciting moment. People won't notice the camera and the chances are that you'll get some amazing facial expressions!

And in less exciting moments it is still a good idea to avoid "posed" pictures as much as possible. People standing up in a stiff line, gazing intently at the camera, simply don't look comfortable, that's all. Catch them at leisure moments, as they perch on the school steps or linger on the lawn.

A really good collection of school pictures is hard to find, as any school year-book editor will tell you. Yet there's nothing much easier to take; and few snapshots increase in value, year after year, as surely as those taken at school.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS

Should the voter desire to vote a "straight" party ticket he shall place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below the party name. If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates on more than one party ticket, by voting what is commonly called a "split ticket" he may place a cross (X) mark in the circle immediately below one party name and mark cross (X) marks in the squares at the left of the names of candidates on other tickets for whom he wishes to vote. If the voter desires to vote for one or more candidates whose name or names do not appear on the printed ballot, he may do so by drawing a line through the printed name of candidate for such office, and writing below such canceled name the name of person for whom he desires to vote, and placing a cross mark in the square at the left of such name. The squares so marked shall take precedence over the cross marked in the circle. Where there are two or more candidates for like office in a group a cross (X) mark in the square to the left of a candidate's name, automatically votes against the candidate whose name appears within the same horizontal lines in the column under the circle in which appears the cross (X) mark unless the voter indicates another candidate, to be voted against by drawing a line through such candidate's name. All candidates of the party whose circle is marked shall be counted as voted for excepting where squares are crossed preceding the names of the candidates in other columns; if two or more candidates for the same office are thus designated, neither shall be counted. If the cross (X) is not placed in the circle immediately below the party name at the head of the column, but does appear in the squares opposite the various candidates' names, then only these names shall be counted for, and none other. A cross (X) mark is any line crossing any other line at any angle within the voting space, and no ballot shall be declared void because a cross (X) mark therein is irregular in form. It shall not be lawful to deface or tear a ballot in any manner nor to erase any printed name "except as provided above in this section," figure, word or letter therefrom, nor to erase any mark made thereon by such voter, nor inclose in the folded ballot any other paper or any article. If the voter deface or tear a ballot, or wrongly mark the name or make an erasure therein, he may obtain one additional ballot on returning to the ballot clerk the one so defaced or wrongly marked. A ballot placed in the ballot box without any marks shall not be counted. Ballots shall be counted only for the person for whom the marks thereon are applicable; when a voter shall place a mark against two or more names for the same office, and only one candidate is to be chosen for the office none of the candidates shall be deemed to have been voted for and the ballots shall not be counted for either such candidate. Before leaving the booth the voter shall fold his ballot in such a manner as to conceal his marks thereon. He shall mark his ballot without undue delay. He shall then hand the ballot to the judge of election selected to take ballots, who shall number the ballot and deposit it in the ballot box. The voter shall quit and leave said enclosed place as soon as possible. (Enacted 1933.)

SIKESTON STANDARD

Southeast Missouri's Leading Semi-Weekly

VOLUME 23 — SIKESTON, SCOTT COUNTY, MISSOURI FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 2, 1934 — NUMBER 10

THE EDITOR SAYS—

At this time, with conditions as they are, the County Court should be chosen with especial care. We are not acquainted with either of the Republican candidates but are sure they are citizens of a high type else they would not have been selected by their party to make the race. We have known Judge Heeb and Judge Gosche for a number of years and know them to have had experience on the bench which especially fits them for the position. Our Tom Henry has no opposition and of course will sit on the bench with judicial dignity. Both candidates for Representative are from Sikeston so we are sure to be represented. C. C. White, Democrat, has served one term, while Roger Bailey is willing to serve the coming term. Roger is a fine chap but if he has made an active campaign we haven't heard of it. Mr. White will undoubtedly represent Scott county at Jefferson City during the 1935 Legislature. You can beat the brush in the hills, the cornfields and cotton patches in the lowlands of Scott county, and cannot scare up a rabbit that can outrun Frank Kirkpatrick, Democratic candidate for Recorder. We have never met his opponent, Mr. Dannenmueller, but after the votes are counted, he will be found among those who also ran. O. L. Spencer, Leo Pfefferkorn and Sherwood Smith are all three certain of election as they have no opposition for county offices, while Bill Ellis, for Constable of Richland Township, has no opposition.

John Hurston, of St. Louis, was caught window peeping at night and given a fine of $1,000. Now if the peeper in Ward 3, Sikeston, could be caught and given 50 lashes with a black-snake whip and a stay out of town forever, all would be well.

GOATS MAY BE PLACED ON LITTLE RIVER LEVEES

A plan to release three or four carloads of goats on land belonging to the Little River Drainage District in order that an overabundance of vegetation on levees may be eliminated was suggested by government officials in Washington this week, and on Wednesday B. F. Burns, secretary, and Earl R. Schultz, engineer, both for the Little River Drainage District, went to Columbia to talk with AAA officials there about the proposed project.

The goats would be sent here from a government owned surplus supply gained by the government through a purchasing plan similar to that of the cattle buying program, but officials of the district would be required to furnish shelter for the goats and to construct fencing where it is found necessary.

Most of the goats, according to the plan, would be placed in Dunklin and Pemiscot counties, where frequently four or five ditches run parallel to each other.

$9, TWO WATCHES TAKEN FROM W. H. SIKES HOME

Burglars succeeded in entering the W. H. Sikes home at 730 N. Kingshighway on Wednesday night while members of the family were at a party given for Mary Jane Sikes at the Marshall hotel, and in escaping with between $8 and $9 in change and two children's wrist watches.

Returning home at about 10:30 o'clock, Mrs. Sikes found two electric light bulbs burning upstairs, one in the guest bedroom and the other in the bathroom.

All drawers had been taken from bureaus and dressers, evidently in haste, and their contents strewn over the second floor rooms. The watches taken were of the Mickey Mouse and Orphan Annie kind. No clothing was stolen.

Since only money and the two watches disappeared and since the burglar or burglars crawled through the downstairs bathroom window, which is small, after first cutting the screen, it is thought that the crime was committed by boys.

No clues, except fingerprints on woodwork in the house, have been found.

ARM BROKEN WHEN TRUCK, CYCLE COLLIDE

Cleve Briggs, about 16 years old, sustained two broken bones in his left arm directly above the wrist Thursday morning when the motorcycle which he was driving was hit by a truck operated by Charles Neal on North Kingshighway in front of Arthur's Service Station.

The accident happened as Briggs was going south on the pavement and as Neal, driving north, suddenly started to turn left into an alley without signalling, according to witnesses.

Briggs was immediately taken to the office of Dr. H. M. Kendig, where he was treated before being removed to his home on South Kingshighway.

Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $20. The glass of one of the truck's headlights was broken and a fender bent.

Dr. L. O. Rhodes is confined to his home on account of illness.

Mrs. L. O. Rhodes returned home Tuesday from a visit with T. A. Wilson and family at Jefferson City and Mrs. Joy Allen at St. Joseph, Mo.

Two Well-Matched Teams To Clash Here Tonight

The Bulldogs will meet a formidable foe when they clash with Coach H. C. Haile's Farmington high eleven at 7:30 o'clock tonight (Friday) on the Sikeston football field.

The Farmington squad, composed of experienced men, has not been beaten this year and its nearest approach to defeat was the occasion when a game with Jackson ended in a 13-13 tie.

The Farmington men have met only three other teams this season, however, defeating Cape Central 7 to 6; St. Louis Roosevelt high 14 to 12, and Crystal City 26 to 0.

In the probable lineup there will be one man, M. Doughty, left tackle, playing his third year as a regular; seven men, L. Smith, H. Guill, C. Fischbeck, E. Yates, I. Grief, E. Knight and E. Lewis, their second year as regulars, and the remaining three, their first year.

The Bulldogs, though, have what is considered as fine a record as that of the Farmington eleven. They have also won four games from Missouri teams: Matthews, 12 to 0; Charleston, 19 to 6; Dexter, 12 to 6, and Chaffee, 12 to 0. They also won from Cairo 25 to 0 and have lost only to the unusually strong Jonesboro team, 7 to 18.

The Charleston Bluejays defeated Cape Central by a score of 7 to 6, while Farmington won from Cape only with the same score, and the Bulldogs beat Charleston badly. Dexter, whom the Sikeston players trounced 12 to 6, lost to Cape only by an 8 to 9 score.

The Bulldogs have also shown increasing power and improved playing ability, indicating that if they are not crippled tonight they will be able to fight well for another victory, which may determine the champion football team of Southeast Missouri.

The probable starting lineup for Farmington is printed below:

Convention For Negro Ministers to End Today

An annual institute for negro ministers of this distrct is scheduled to close at noon today after a five-day session held at the Mt. Pisgah Freewill Baptist church in New Madrid, the 1934 meeting place.

Throughout this week, the mornings and afternoons have been devoted to classes conducted by prominent negro leaders on such topics as "Church Finances and Records," "The Church and the Community," "How to Make a Sermon," "Church Organizations," "Ministerial Correspondence" and "How to Study the Bible."

At 11 o'clock each day Jeanes supervisors, school children, New Madrid residents and ministers gathered for devotional exercises. At the evening meetings, open to all interested persons, they heard lectures and discussions by various officials present for the institute.

At the devotional period Tuesday morning Dr. J. H. Dillard of Charlottesville, Va., former president of the Jeanes and Slater funds, served as chairman, introducing C. A. Kitch of Jefferson City, state supervisor of schools, who told members of his audience that work, ambition and common sense are prerequisites for success and advised them to be true to themselves.

Telling the persons present that happiness cannot be bought, the Rev. Everard W. Daniel, pastor of St. Mathews negro church in Detroit, Mich., spoke particularly to the large delegation of school children who attended the meeting. "To be happy you must be good," he said, adding that to be good one must be considerate of his parents and proud of them. Most important of all, however, one must know God, a word which signifies "the good one."

"And how may we know God?" the Rev. Mr. Daniel asked. "Thru Jesus Christ," he said, citing instances to show that Christ was supremely happy although he was far more poor than are people today.

C. L. Blanton, Sr., who was asked by Dr. Dillard to address the audience, told how he frequently visits the Sikeston negro school and how he as well as his children were reared among the negroes of the south, respecting them and having their respect.

Mr. Blanton highly praised Miss L. A. Myers, Jeanes supervisor for Scott county, and the negro ministers, saying that they "have more influence over their people than any white man."

"You must have self-respect," Mr. Blanton said. "If you've got that you won't be for sale to anyone. Through my paper I've been friendly toward the negroes. We need you and you need us."

Dr. Dillard, who earlier in the meeting was called "our patron saint" by the Rev. Mr. Daniel, then told the negroes that "no one should ever grovel before any other person. Treat everybody with respect and courtesy, but be independent." To be independent, Dr. Dillard said, persons must try to make livings.

Before the end of the meeting, B. C. Caldwell of Carbondale, Ill., formerly field agent of the Jeanes and Slater funds, taught the negro children a song, "Father, we thank thee for the night." The meeting was opened with an invocation and a reading of the scripture and was closed with a prayer. Between the speeches, Mrs. R. A. Crawford, Jeanes supervisor for Pemiscot county, led the congregation in singing several hymns.

The institute will be held next year in Sikeston.

Returns After Recovery From Accident Injuries

K. K. Baker, well-known Southeast Missouri archeologist, returned here Tuesday after an absence of more than a month. Since Sept. 29, he has been confined in the home of a friend near East Prairie, recovering from injuries which he sustained in an accident on Highway 105, and although he still suffers from his injuries, he was able to travel to Sikeston and can now walk with the aid of a cane.

The accident happened as Mr. Baker, Ezra Hawkes, a farmer of near East Prairie for whom he was working at the time, and Mr. Hawkes' son, Noble, were driving to the Hawkes farm in a wagon after transporting a load of sorghum. As they reached a point on the highway a mile west of East Prairie, the three saw a car approaching from the opposite direction as well as one coming rapidly toward them from behind. Hawkes pulled his team to the rgiht off the concrete half to the right off the concrete half enough to avoid an accident.

The car being driven from behind by Tom Allsup struck the wagon, wrecking it and throwing Mr. Baker 30 feet over the wagon and car to the road's gravel. Hawkes, who was holding the reins, and his son sustained only minor injuries.

Mr. Baker, who was unconscious for an hour and a half after the accident, was hurried to the office of Dr. Sam Martin in East Prairie, where it was discovered he had two broken ribs, two large gashes on the back of his head and one directly over his right eye, and severe injuries to his left knee and left hip, in addition to internal injuries.

After receiving treatment in East Prairie, he was taken to the Hawkes home, where he remained in bed for three weeks.

F. D. LAIR AND SAM WILCOX ATTEND FRIGIDAIRE MEET

F. D. Lair and Sam Wilcox left here shortly after noon Wednesday for Cape Girardeau to attend a business meeting for Frigidaire dealers of Southeast Missouri which was held during the afternoon and evening at the Hotel Marquette. Mr. Wilcox is the Frigidaire manager at the Lair Furniture store.

About 50 Frigidaire retailers from thruout the district and P. H. Vinyard of Poplar Bluff, district Frigidaire supervisor, attended the session to hear prominent Frigidaire company officials including the general manager and the sales manager of the St. Louis office, discuss plans for a Frigidaire Christmas campaign.

PROMINENT SPEAKER

Lieutenant Charles E. Lofgren, secretary and personnel officer to Rear Admiral Richard Byrd during the last Byrd Antarctic Expedition, who will talk to high school children and interested adults at 8:45 o'clock Friday morning in the study hall during national education week here.

3-DAY OPEN SEASON ON DEER A SUCCESS

The fourth three-day open season on four-point buck deer came to a close last Saturday at sundown and early reports indicate a successful season. Reports were received Monday morning from 15 counties where deer were taken legally totalling 75.

Persons having legally killed a deer in Missouri and having it properly tagged, may legally hold the carcass until February 5.

Heavy foliage is reported to have made it difficult for hunters to locate deer this season. Hunters were reported in about 25 Ozark counties.

No reports of accidents have been received while hunters were afield during the season, continuing the good record of the three previous seasons since deer hunting has been permitted.

$3,868,425 RELIEF AID TO MISSOURI FOR MONTH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 32.—Allotments of federal relief funds to meet November relief needs in states were announced today by Harry L. Hopkins, the relief administrator, to include Missouri, $3,868,425.

FORD PLANS TO REOPEN PLANT AT ST. LOUIS SOON

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 31.—The Ford Motor Co. said today it was planning to reopen its assembly plant in St. Louis, which had been closed for two years. The plant will reopen in time to start production of 1935 models.

SARAH MAE HEATH

Sarah Mae Heath, 3-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hamon Heath of near Sikeston, died in Cape Girardeau Monday.

Funeral services were conducted at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Paul Hannah, five miles northeast of Sikeston, by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Sikeston Church of the Nazarene. Burial was in a cemetery near McMullin.

The child, who was born near Sikeston July 4, is survived by her parents, her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heath and her maternal grandmother Mrs. Sarah Hannah, all of near Sikeston, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Cook, Lynnville, Ky. Albritton service.

STUBBLEFIELD-CONNOR

Miss Maggie Lee Conner, daughter of Mrs. Maggie Conner of Sikeston, and Marion Stubblefield were married at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stubblefield.

The service was read by the Rev. C. F. Transue, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene here, in the presence of a few close friends of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Stubblefield will live here, where Mr. Stubblefield is associated with the T. P. Rafferty & Son Grocery store.

The Dorcas and Agoga classes of the First Baptist church held a Hallowe'en party in the Agoga hall Tuesday evening at 7:30. Everyone was masked. Prizes were awarded for the two prettiest costumes and then a booby prize was also given. The evening was spent in playing games and singing, ending was refreshments of doughnuts nad hot chocolate. There were about 60 present.

Numerous Features Planned for Education Week Here

A full week of activity in observation of national education week, including an exhibition of reproductions of masterpiece paintings of all ages, a lecture by a nationally known navy officer, a high school band concert, and a novel stunt, has been planned for Sikeston by Roy V. Ellise, superintendent of schools.

The week's program will be officially opened at 8 o'clock Monday evening, when the 62-piece high school band under the direction of "Peg" Myer of Cape Girardeau and augmented by at least four distinguished St. Louis artists presents a concert in the gymnasium at its first public appearance.

Since almost the first week of school Mr. Meyer has been here training students daily to organize the first band ever formed at the Sikeston high school, and for that reason as well as because the band represents the largest single group of students at the school the concert is expected to attract particular attention.

The St. Louis Artists are Joseph Gustat, first trumpeter of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra; John Sauter, who plays the flute, the saxophone, and the clarinet; Schuyler Alward, xylophone player and for some time an artist at radio station WIL in St. Louis; and Jerre Comack, accompanist and soloist on the piano accordian, who for approximately four years has been the staff organist at WIL. It is possible that Edward Oventrop, trombonist with the St. Louis Symphony, will also be here.

The evening's program will consist of a concert by the band, followed by solo numbers by the St. Louis artists, who will be introduced by Mr. Alward serving as master of ceremonies. Before the end of the concert they will play together a special arrangement of "The Land of the Sky Blue Water."

In order to encourage school children in their efforts to form a band here, the St. Louis men will come to Sikeston without charge. Admission to the concert will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults. All proceeds will be used by the band to purchase uniforms, instruments or music, according to Mr. Meyer, who has organized similar bands in Malden, Perryville, Charleston, Poplar Bluff and Jackson.

Throughout the mornings and afternoons of Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday a collection of 150 fine prints reproduced directly from original paintings now hanging in the most important art galleries of the world and representing the best work of representatives of the French, Italian, Flemish, English, Dutch, Spanish, German and American schools of art will be on display in the high school gymnasium.

Admission to the exhibit, which includes famous portraits, landscapes, marines, and pastoral scenes in the colors of the original canvases, will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults. Members of the school faculty are urging their students to see the display since it will be invaluable as an educational feature, and residents of Sikeston have been cordially invited to the exhibit because they will not be given an opportunity again soon to see such a splendid collection. All money made from the admission charges will be used to buy pictures, probably some of those on display, for the Sikeston school buildings.

One of the most notable features of the week and certainly the most novel, will be the direction by former school officials and faculty members of the Sikeston schools for one period Thursday afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The plan, conceived, according to Mr. Ellise, "just for reminiscence and to honor the schools of yesteryear," has been given the enthusiastic approval of persons formerly connected with the Sikeston schools.

R. E. Bailey, who has long been prominent in school activities here, will serve as superintendent, and George W. Kirk as principal. Former teachers who now live here and will be at the school building Thursday afternoon to take charge of the children in the grades which they once taught include Mrs. Phil Renner, Mrs. J. L. Tanner, Mrs. W. S. Smith, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. E. C. Matthews, Mrs. Georgia Donnell, Mrs. Dess Bloomfield, Mrs. Shirley Bloomfield, Mrs. Annie Winchester, Mrs. Roger Bailey, Mrs. Jean Hirshberg, Mrs. H. E. Reuber, Mrs. Milem Limbaugh, Mrs. C. T. Old, Mrs. J. William Foley, Mrs. C. D. Matthews, III, Mrs. H. M. Kendig, Mrs. Ernest Harper, Mrs. C. L. Blanton, Jr., Mrs. Wilbur Ensor, Mrs. Frank Schulte, Mrs. Harold Trowbridge, Mrs. Charles French, Mrs. Harry Dudley, Miss Caroline Hess, Miss Anna Randol, Frank Van Horne and Pleas Malcolm, Mrs. A. J. Moore and Mrs. John Powell.

"The patrons of the town are invited to visit the school at any time, and the former pupils of the above teachers are especially urged to visit while this 'stunt' is on," Mr. Ellise said.

Next Friday morning, at 8:45 o'clock, Lieutenant Charles E. Lofgren, a distinguished former naval officer who, through experience, has gained wide and authoritative knowledge of Antarctic expeditions, will address school children and adults in the high school study hall.

Lieutenant Lofgren was Rear-Admiral Byrd's secretary from the beginning of the organization of the first Byrd Antarctic Expedition, personnel officer and "right-hand man" during the entire trip, and personal aide during Byrd's 1930 transcontinental lecture tour.

Because of his work with the expedition, Lieutenant Lofgren won the esteem of Byrd, who wrote in his "Little America", "I handed these (sealed instructions left at the base preparatory to the Admiral's taking off on his epic flight over the South Pole) to Lofgren who had served the expedition faithfully and well, and than whom thre is no finer or truer man."

Before associating himself with Byrd, Lofgren served in the United States Navy, retiring in 1927 after 16 years of honorable service. During the world war, he was commissioned as lieutenant, junior grade, and participated in the occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, in 1914. He holds four good conduct medals for fidelity, zeal, and obedience in the navy and was awarded the special gold congressional medal as an officer of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition.

In addition to relating the story of the first Byrd expedition, Lieutenant Lofgren will link that journey with the present one and so will explain clearly what is happening now. Admission to his lecture will be 10 cents for children and 25 cents for adults.

When the Perryville high school football eleven comes here for a scheduled battle with the Bulldogs a week from tonight, all former Bulldog players will be admitted free to the game as guests of the school. The night, which has been designated as homecoming, will be definitely a part of the national education week program in Sikeston, and the high school band will make its second appearance this year when it plays at intervals throughout the game, which is expected to attract unusually large crowds.

On the following morning, a week from Saturday, women students of the Southeast Missouri State Teachers' College at Cape Girardeau will come here to join high school girls in a hockey game on the school field. The two teams, which will meet only for an exhibition game, will each be composed of college women and high school girls.

The entire program has been arranged to interest school children and adults alike, and Sikeston residents are urged to join faculty members in what promises to be a completely successful observation of national education week.

HARRY YOUNG, JR., AMONG HONOR STUDENTS AT VMI

Harry Young, Jr., has made the honor roll in studies at the Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, Va., which he is attending this year, according to a telegram received here Thursday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young.

Mr. Young went to VMI in September after he had completed a year's work at Washington University in St. Louis and had spent the summer here in Sikeston.

FORNFELT BARBER TO FACE LIQUOR CHARGE

Peter C. Callette, operator of a Fornfelt barber shop, is scheduled to be arraigned today before John Ferguson, United States Commissioner in Cape Girardeau, on a charge of possessing whisky for which no federal liquor tax has been paid.

Callette was arrested late Tuesday after a raid conducted by state and federal liquor control agents, who stated they seized 14 gallons of whisky. When he could not supply a $2000 bond, he was placed in the Cape Girardeau county jail at Jackson.

McDOWELL, MUNGER TO BE HERE FOR TWO DEMOCRATIC RALLIES

State Senator James McDowell of Charleston, who addressed a large, enthusiastic audience here last Friday night, will return to Sikeston Saturday for a speech in Railroad park at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Senator McDowell, who is a very popular speaker in this district, will be easily heard all over the park since Harry Young's loud speaker system will be installed there for his use.

At 7:30 o'clock Monday evening E. M. Munger, prominent Chaffee attorney who is well-known here, will address Democrats in Railroad park over the loud speaker system. All Democratic workers have been especially urged to attend this meeting as well as a session for them at the end of the address.

TAX CERTIFICATE POOL TO BE CLOSED NOV. 10

Tentative plans for closing the surplus cotton tax-exemption certificate pool for the receipt of surplus certificates on Nov. 10 were announced today by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Purchase of certificates from the pool, it was emphasized, would continue so long as the pool had certificates on hand.

E. L. Deal, manager of the pool, said it was felt that all holders of surplus certificates who wish to turn them into the pool will have had that opportunity by Nov. 10. State allotment boards have been urged to assist producers who wish to turn in surplus certificates to the pool.

"Because we have tentatively selected a final date for receiving surplus certificates," Mr. Deal said, "it is now more urgent than ever that producers speed up the surrender of any certificates they wish to offer for sale thru the pool."

The pool now has on hand orders for many more certificates than it is able to fill, Mr. Deal said. On all of these orders, the purchasers expect to pay four cents a pound, the rate fixed by Secretary Wallace as the standard selling price for surplus certificates purchased through the national pool.

Producers will be paid approximately $20 a bale for all certificates sold through the pool. When the pool is liquidated, each producer will be returned his share of any certificates the pool does not sell. These may be used next year if the Bankhead Act is effective for 1935.

Mrs. Clay Mitchell entertained Wednesday evening for her son Bobby with a Hallowe'en party.

Mrs. Roy Johnson of St. Louis entertained at bridge Wednesday afternoon.

Essex Farmer Is Near Death rrom Hydrophobia

Fred Mayberry, a 76-year-old Essex farmer, was placed in a Poplar Bluff hospital Wednesday suffering from an advanced case of hydrophobia, the first which Poplar Bluff physicians have ever seen in this district. Little hope is held for his recovery since there is no known cure for the affliction.

The sight of water, according to attending doctors, causes Mayberry to suffer violent paroxysms, and cold air, unusual noises, and bright lights produce convulsions in his throat and chest.

The farmer was bitten by his own dog four months ago, but since the wound was slight and healed rapidly he thought little of it. The dog disappeared soon after biting his master, and Mayberry concluded a neighbor had killed it.

Ordinarily the first symptoms of hydrophobia appear within from three to 12 weeks after a poisonous bite, but in some instances they have not become apparent for a year. Mayberry, however, first became ill last Monday, suffering a severe chill and fever. He ate no food and had almost no water, and when his condition became steadily worse he was taken to the hospital, his wife, with whom he moved to Stoddard county from Hamilton county, Illinois, in 1900, remaining with him.

RETIRED FRISCO ENGINEER DIES AT CHAFFEE HOME

Funeral services for William Patrick Nations, 58-year-old retired Frisco railroad engineer who died Tuesday after a two years' illness of high blood pressure, were held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at the Nations home in Chaffee, the Rev. E. W. Ligon, pastor of the Christian church, officiating. Burial was in the cemetery at Swinton, where members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, an organization to which he belonged, had charge.

Nations retired in February, 1932, after serving 26 years and 8 months with the Frisco railroad. He is survived by his fourth wife, Mrs. Emma Clark Nations, to whom he was married in Chaffee on July 24, 1932; a son by a former marriage, E. B. Nations of St. Louis; his father, James Nations of Swinton, where he was born; two brothers, Oscar Nations of St. Louis and James Nations of Swinton; a sister, Miss Nina Nations of Beverly Hills, Calif.; a half-sister, Mrs. Alma McClanahan of Commerce; and a half-brother, Silas Nations of Hayti.

DEMOCRATS TO MAINTAIN FOUR WARD HEADQUARTERS

Democratic party leaders have arranged to maintain four ward headquarters here for use by party members on election day, next Tuesday.

Information concerning the election may be obtained by calling the following persons, who will have charge of the separate headquarters: A. C. Barrett, ward one headquarters in The Standard office on North Kingshighway, telephone 137; John Young, ward two headquarters in the Southeast Missouri Burial Association rooms on the corner of Center and North New Madrid streets, telephone 655; Herbert Walton, ward three headquarters in the Nuway Cleaning building on West Malone avenue, telephone 705 or 168; Jim Stone, ward four headquarters at the Sikeston Lumber Company on East Malone avenue, telephone 226.

Mrs. Laura Smith is expected home today (Friday) from a visit with her daughter Mrs. Ed Crowe at Dexter.

New $3 License Fee Imposed On Lawyers

Under a rule enacted recently by members of the Missouri Supreme Court, all persons who are licensed to practice law in this state are now required to pay a $3 license fee annually to the circuit clerk of the county in which their offices are located.

The ruling, which became effective Thursday, also provides that attorneys must pay 50 cents by Dec. 20 for the remainder of 1934.

A receipt showing payment of the fees will enable lawyers to practice anywhere in Missouri, but if any attorney fails to pay his fee he will be automatically suspended and will not be permitted to practice. He may be reinstated, however, by paying the fee plus a $1 penalty.

If a suspended lawyer continues to practice law after he is notified of his suspension, he will become liable to a penalty of reprimand from the bench, suspension for not more than a year, or permanent suspension. Circuit bar committees will be asked to notify attorneys of their suspension and to urge them to become reinstated within 10 days.

HALLOWE'EN RAINFALL TOTALS .40 OF INCH

The strong wind, the brief hailstorm, and the rain which fell heavily here for a short time on Hallowe'en night did not net Sikeston farmers very much moisture.

According to records kept by John LaFont at the Frisco station here, Wednesday night's rainfall totaled only .40 of an inch. The night before, Tuesday, a total of .15 of an inch fell.

The weather has also been mild. The first freezing temperature of the season was recorded on Mr. LaFont's instruments Saturday night when the mercury dropped to 29 degrees. The low temperature Wednesday night was 34 degrees.

MINER PARTY POSTPONED

The special social entertainment planned by Miner residents for Hallowe'en night has been postponed until Monday evening because of the rain Wednesday.

Alas, alack-a-day, Sally Rand failed to come this way.

The Standard is in receipt of a letter from a Kansas City colored man wanting a job as chauffeur, truck driver, car washer or tire service man. If you can use him write to Aaron J. Lennox, 2915 Holly street, Kansas City, Mo.

It seems strange that the Republican spellbinders in Missouri have nothing to offer the people in the way of a cure for the depression, but can only criticise the President for trying to feed the hungry, for trying to help the farmer and for saving the remaining banks that Hoover failed to destroy, and point with holy horror at the Pendergast organization in Kansas City. The Republicans say that Pendergast "feeds 'em and votes 'em," which is a very good system. We are not afraid of Tom Pendergast, in fact we are an admirer of his organization and wish he would take a week off some time and come to Sikeston and help us organize the fifty thousand Democratic voters in Southeast Missouri, as he has his one hundred thousand in Kansas City. Long live Pendergast and his organization. We tried to beat 'em one time and now we want to jine 'em.

Elmer Donnell, executive vice-president of the Associated Industries of Missouri, eats our britches out for an editorial paragraph printed in the Oct. 19 issue of The Standard in which we took a shot at the Associated Industries as we see them. The information on which we based our opinion of the said Industries was gathered from newspaper reports and from word of mouth. The late manager of the Missouri Utilities Co. in Sikeston informed us his company paid for their Sikeston office for looking after legislation was something like $385, which the Scott County Mill Co. and the McKnight-Keaton Grocery likewise paying into the Industries. The Industries man in Jefferson City, according to newspaper report, was Mr. Patterson, a lawyer formerly of Sikeston, who was there as a lobbyist or agent. We'll confess we are prejudiced against the Associated Industries, believing their aim is to protect corporations from paying their share of the taxes on their watered stock as well as their legitimate issues.

This Friday night Farmington is to invade the Sikeston football field to attempt to take the Bulldogs to a cleaning. All Sikeston should turn out and lend their moral support to the home boys. Will you do it?

Do you believe in justice to law violators? If so, what do you think of this: Pickle Dill and Red Heath were each given a $50 fine and 90 days in jail for being drunk and attacking negroes with their hands and feet, while Marshall Gunter was given a $25 fine and jail sentence suspended for attempting to kill a man with a shot gun while drunk. For one we believe the first two got justice while the last fellow should have been sent over the road.

Some mighty good pictures have been shown of late at the Malone Theatre, but none of them will be more entertaining than Will Rogers in "Judge Priest" which will be presented Sunday and Monday. You should enjoy the homely humor of Judge Priest.

Tons of foodstuffs have been distributed to the unemployed and afflicted in Southeast Missouri the past year and more tons are now in the commissaries awaiting distribution when the call comes. All of this by the will and orders of the Democratic administration at Washington which raised the money to feed the hungry and take care of the sick instead of providing it for the big corporations as did Mr. Hoover. Just how any Republican, who has been furnished work by this administration—to feed his family, can step up to the polls and vote the Republican ticket this time, is beyond understanding. It is true there has been a lot of money spent, and perhaps some of it unnecessarily, but when a family is suffering for food and fuel there is no time for delay. To vote the Democratic ticket from top to bottom Tuesday will be an endorsement of the policies of Mr. Roosevelt, the friend of the people.

Francis Ford, famous serial star of the silent days, has a comedy role in support of Will Rogers in "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday. John Ford, director of "Judge Priest," is a brother of the player who once co-starred with Ella Hall and Grace Cunard.

"A chicken in every pot" sounded good during the Hoover administration, but the trouble was, too many people lost the pot before they got the chicken," says the Memphis Democrat.

While making a speech the other day Roscoe Patterson yelled, "It's unconsti-toot-toot-toot-ional." A small boy on a nearby corner heard the tooting and yelled to another small boy, "Come on Bill, number 805 is pullin' in"—Cape Girardeau News

The difficulties in which our country finds itself were not caused in one or two years, and cannot be solved in a short period of time. Never has the White House sheltered a man more humane, more earnest in his desire to solve the enormous problems of the common people. A sweeping Democratic victory this November will certainly be interpreted as an expression of confidence in our great president, Franklin D. Roosevelt.—Chariton Courier.

A vote for Truman and the Democratic ticket in Missouri is a vote in support of Franklin D. Roosevelt. It is a vindication of his sympathetic attitude toward the forgotten man. If you stay at home because you think everybody else is going to the polls and perform the duty incumbent upon you as well, you should be enrolled among the enemies of the man who has tried to help you.—Paris Mercury.

"It is my conviction that the regular American ideal is a state society in which each and every man has a fair chance to acquire the things essential to comfort and happiness," said Charles M. Hay, City Counselor of St. Louis in a recent address at Hillsboro. "That ideal, which the old order not only menaced but reduced to mockery, the "New Deal" seeks to achieve and to make real for all Americans. When did it become a menace to American ideals for the government to assist in taking men off of relief rolls and putting them on payrolls, or to help men maintain and enjoy their own homes? When did it become un-American to establish an economic order in which every man is given a fair chance to earn a living?"

William Darling, whose sets for "Cavalcade" won him the Academy award last year, was art director of the new Fox film "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday, with Will Rogers as star. Darling did some heavy research for the picture, as its locale is Paducah, Ky., in 1890.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

SHOPPERS this week will find vegetables of all kinds plentiful, though prices are higher due to the advancing season. Eggs are much higher and butter somewhat more expensive, but meats are moderately priced.

Both white and sweet potatoes or yams represent outstanding values. Cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and Brussels sprouts are particularly seasonable and low in price. Onions, turnips, carrots and beets are dependable and cheap standbys. Iceberg lettuce is both fine in quality and cheaper than usual. There is an abundance of cheap pumpkin for Hallowe'en.

Apples are plentiful and moderately priced, grapes and grapefruit as well, while melons have largely disappeared.

The following menus are made up from the latest market news available:

Low Cost Dinner

Pot Roast of Beef Boiled Potatoes
Carrots Onions
Bread and Butter
Banana Cream Pie
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Roast Pork Candied Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Deep Apple Pie

HOUSE FURNISHINGS

Our 37th Year in Southeast Missouri

Style For the Living Room?

Take a look at four or five new living room outfits that are being displayed for the first time this week in our front windows. Mohair Frieze takes the lead at present in durable upholstering that finds favor with wise buyers. Furniture windows in large cities are full of it but in none of them will you find superior styles to our late models.

Some Class to Aladdins

Along with this nice lot of living room suites we have a new shipment of Aladdin lamps to show you. Most housekeepers understand that Aladdin always has something different—and usually something prettier—than competing manufacturers. There are table lamps, boudoir, bridge and junior styles in this collection. Aladdins have class to them.

Electric Bargain

Who wants a Universal Electric Range for $25 cash? We mean one in excellent order, fully guaranteed to work or no sale. Has been used of course but in our trades we have accumulated several of them and want the money they cost us, hence this ridiculous price. Cost over $100 new.

See Today's Majestic

Our store now has exclusive sale of Great Majestic Ranges for this town and territory. Majestics have been considered "Top of the Pot" in quality for half a century and are that today. Used stoves may be used as part pay and plenty of time is available in paying the balance. The 1934 models are beautiful.

Not Hard to Take

Stove sales for the season so far have exceeded expectations by a good margin and there are still many who have not yet prepared for winter. Moore's heaters and ranges are at the head of the class and in the $50.00 price we have the best range in this section. Without exaggeration our store is "STOVE AND RANGE HEADQUARTERS." Make us prove it.

Stylish Clothes—Bum Furniture

There are a good many stylish women living in Southeast Missouri. None of them would be caught wearing mutton leg sleeves, hoops or bustles but quite a few seem content to use furniture that is as far behind the times as the antiques mentioned. Out of date home furnishings detract from one's social standing more than one may realize. Many families could better invest a small sum each month in home comforts rather than spend a like amount on trifles that are so quickly forgotten. Try out the plan. It works.

Not Long 'Till Christmas

As a forerunner of what is to come quite a number of pretty furniture novelties suitable for holiday gifts are arriving almost daily. Lamp tables, odd chairs, coffee tables, etc., in the new bone white finish are here in variety. Visitors are always welcome, whether buying or not.

Why Not a Genuine Frigidaire?

As the giving season approaches many wise heads are thinking of placing one of these glistening new porcelain Frigidaires in the family stocking on Dec. 25th. That seems to us a 100% sensible decision. The Frigidaire Company will have some special news in regard to their Christmas campaign within a few days. You will find it in our column.

Quality Wood Heaters

There seems to be a shortage in Sikeston of good quality wood heaters. We have a nice lot coming in that should be ready for sale the latter part of this week. Call and see them.

Voters, Let's Elect STEPHEN BARTON

CIRCUIT JUDGE

For answer to argument of Judge Kelly's campaign managers that Judge is qualified and is entitled to the office of Circuit Judge and Steve is not, following information is submitted for your consideration.

Qualifications of Judge Kelly—
Age of Judge Kelly when elected Circuit Judge—45 years.
Years of practice of law when elected—19 years.
Additional training—Prosecuting Attorney Scott County.

Qualifications of Steve Barton—
Age of Steve Barton—45 years.
Years of practice of law—19 years.
Additional training—Prosecuting Attorney Scott County.

If Judge was qualified when elected Circuit Judge 22 years ago, and he was, by what process of reasoning can the Judge's managers conclude Steve is not now qualified? The Judge had no training on the bench when elected. No person can have experience in an office until elected, and chances for others are few if offices are given to holders for over a quarter of a century as the managers of Judge Kelly's campaign are advocating in the newspapers over the district.

WHAT THE NEW DEAL HAS BROUGHT MISSOURI IN DOLLARS AND CENTS

(Figures, taken from Official Records, do not include expenditures after Sept. 1, 1934).

Under the AAA adjustment program, Missouri farmers have received $10,488,116.51, divided as follows: Corn-hog, $6,834,707.09 Wheat, $1,131,698.93; Cotton, $2,471,769.51; Tobacco, $49,941.05.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has also paid Missouri farmers $5,893,520.00 for drought cattle and sheep and $501,600.00 under the corn fodder purchase plan.

Relief activities, up to Sept. 1, involved the expenditure in Missouri of $52,329,900.19; the greater part of it federal money, distributed as follows: Direct relief, $27,053,828.53; CWA, $22,005,742.47; CWS (Women's Work), $716,578.68; Relief commodities, $599,879.42; Garden program, $309,176.63; Education program, $712,641.34; Transient relief, $601,821.74; Student relief, $101,440.84; Drought relief, $220,712.79; Food conservation, $1,001.30; Rural rehabilitation, $7,077.37.

The Home Owners' Loan Corporation has advanced $50,000,000.00 to refinance loans on Missouri homes.

The CCC program has resulted to date in the expenditure of $579,519.61 in Missouri of which $277,701.53 was spent in State Park improvements and $273,233.47 on forestry work.

Under the PWA $79,000,000.00 of construction work in Missouri, other than Federal projects, has been approved, and $28,000,000.00 in federal loans and grants made.

Missouri has received in special federal grants for highway work under the New Deal the sum of $13,000,000.00.

Total — $244,792,656.35.

While Will Rogers was making the Fox film "Judge Priest," at the Malone Theatre Sunday and Monday, he was also appearing on the stage in Los Angeles as star of Eugene O'Neill's play, "Ah, Wilderness." In the evenings, therefore, he portrayed a shrewd, "Down East" Yankee, while his days were spent as "Judge Priest," of the Deep South, just as shrewd, but an opposite in all other respects.

GRANTED TEMPORARY INJUNCTION TO STOP TERMINAL ERECTION

Residents of the southeast part of town, with Virgil Williams as plaintiff, were granted a temporary injunction Oct. 24 against Carson and Righter to stop construction of a new truck terminal on Highway 61 at Gladys street, on the grounds that its presence in the neighborhood would create a nuisance.

The injunction, which was granted by Judge Frank Kelly, was served on Carson and Righter officials a week ago Thursday. A final hearing on it is scheduled for Nov. 17 during the November term of the Scott county circuit court. The plaintiff will be represented by Ray Lucas of Benton and the defendants by Blanton & Montgomery.

Opposition to the location of a truck terminal in the southeast part of town has been vigorous since residents learned that Carson and Righter intended to build on a lot adjoining the highway. At a council meeting Oct. 10, a petition protesting the construction of the terminal was read. The signers, all persons living near the proposed location of the terminal, stated they believed the value of their property would be lowered and their homes less enjoyable if the terminal were built in a section which was otherwise almost wholly residential.

Though several councilmen said at the meeting that they considered the board has little jurisdiction over matters of that nature, the group voted to permit Carson and Righter to erect a terminal and work was started. When the injunction was served, actual construction of the terminal had not started. Since last week, however, workmen have been pouring concrete on a strip lying between the highway and the Carson and Righter lot.

DEER HALVED AFTER TWO GO TO COURT

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 29.—W. R. Smith, Springfield glass salesman, took the advice of a Justice of the Peace and divided the biggest deer ever killed in Taney county today. Smith told of shooting the 15-point, 225-pound buck at 70 yards, when he returned home Thursday evening from a hunting trip near Kirbyville.

Today, however, he gave half the deer to Porter Calton, Barry county stockman. Calton maintained he killed the deer after Smith had missed and lent it to Smith to have some pictures taken to "fool his friends." Calton said Smith refused to return the deer and the stockman went to a Justice. The Judge discouraged a litigation. An ensuing agreement halved the meat, gave Smith the head and Calton the hide.

Did You Ever Stop to Think?

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

The road to continued prosperity is right ahead. A get-together stay together and boost together spirit will get your city on that road and keep it there.

All citizens should boost with real enthusiasm. Your city is worthy of your best endeavors.

You should think of your city with pride and glory in her achievements.

Boosters are the back-bone of development; they are the mainstay of progress.

There has never been a greater opportunity than right now for every citizen to render real service to the home city.

It is the duty of every man to boost the home city. It is up to them to measure up to the requirements of their city.

They should rally to the support of every forward movement and lend their time and money unstintedly for success.

There is bound to be growth where there is action. People are attracted to the communities that are alive and let the world know it.

WHAT OF OUR CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP?

Personally, the editor of this paper has been opposed to any person holding office continually for a score or more years unless the law provided for it, but we are frank to say that we have changed our mind slightly at least in the present campaign. We have mixed our ticket for many years, not adhering to party candidates because they were the party nominee. In this respect we feel that there is no choice between the Republican and the Democratic candidates for judge of this circuit, and will support Judge Frank Kelly with this paper and with our vote, because we cannot nor will not vote for nor support the Republican nominee. This is hitting straight from the shoulder and that is what we intended to do.

Judge Frank Kelly has been on the bench for a score of years and is fitted for the office he now holds and which he seeks to again be elected. Never in the 22 years he has held this office has there been one hint of partiality or corruptness. He is clean and his record on the bench has stood with fairness and ability with that of any of the circuit judges of the state. If there were faults, (and who is faultless) his has been one on the side of mercy and as we said when he announced one can say as did Judge Pat Dyer of himself, "Thank God, my errors are on the right side."

We do not anticipate the election of his opponent and express our views because we want to do so; and, because we believe it is our duty to do so. If there are any others who think we are right upon this subject they should do likewise; if not, they have only their own conscience to dictate to them their course. The office of circuit judge is not one of politics though there is no provision for electing by party rule. Judge Kelly is better fitted now than ever before to preside over our circuit court.

—Enterprise Courier,
Charleston, Mo., May 31, 1934.

JUDGE FRANK KELLY FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

We hear some Republicans say that some Democrats in this county will support Steve Barton for circuit judge of this district, but we personally know of none. In our opinion it is merely campaign propaganda which will fail in its purpose.

This paper would like to know of just one reason why any Democrat should vote for Steve Barton. He has been practicing law in this district for a good many years, but so far as we are informed, he has not risen to any great heights in his profession and from our information he is just a plain, ordinary, country lawyer, who has never been tried in a judicial position of importance.

We do know this, that in 1932, he made some of the rankest Republican speeches that were made in this county. At Gordonville he appealed to the prejudices of the mothers whose sons he said Woodrow Wilson and the Democrats used as gun fodder. He has been lambasting Democrats and their party since he has been able to climb a stump, and just what there is about him to attract a Democrat is more than the Cash-Book is able to discern.

Judge Frank Kelly, the Democratic nominee, has been circuit judge in this district for a number of years. He has been tested and tried. There has never come to this office any report or charge of the slightest character as to his unfairness or dishonesty. He may have made honest mistakes, but none which were influenced by prejudice or hope of reward. The positions of judges of our courts should not be permitted to become political rewards. We must have judges who are capable, clean and honest, and this paper is sure that Judge Kelly fills the bill. We do not believe that any good Democrat will support Steve Barton.

—Jackson Cash-Book,
Oct. 4, 1934.

Judge Kelly has received the nomination at the hands of the Democrats without a contest by any of the able and competent Democratic attorneys of the circuit, thereby receiving their unqualified endorsement for the position of Circuit Judge.

Such action should convince any Democrat that Judge Kelly is regarded by the bar as worthy of election and should receive the full vote of his party so long as judges are elected in that way. If he had not been considered worthy by the bar some of the attorneys would have opposed him for the nomination.

The editors who have observed his work, and the lawyers who work with him deem him deserving of election. We believe the Democratic voters will be joined by many Republican voters who know of and appreciate the fine impartial service Judge Kelly has rendered, in electing him again as our Circuit Judge.

Respectfully submitted,

Democratic Judiciary Committee,
28th Judicial Circuit,
By: Russell L. Dearmont.

LITTLE AMERICA AVIATION and EXPLORATION CLUB

LITTLE AMERICA ★ ANTARCTICA

With Byrd at the South Pole

by C. A. Abele Jr. U.S.N.R. President

BUSY DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN!

LITTLE AMERICA, ANTARCTICA, Sept. 24 (via Mackay Radio):—Work, more work and then still more work has been the order of all the days since the sun has returned to us. If only the students and associates of our learned scientists could peek in at Little America for a day they could lift the romantic curtain of exploration and perhaps smile at the scene presented.

For instance, let me picture the motley array of pioneers of the "B.E.A.," meaning the "Boys After Experience." There is Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, of Iowan Wesleyan College, repairing the door on a tunnel entrance and muttering dire threats against the next man that breaks it. Paul Siple, of Erie, and Alton A. Lindsey, of West Newton, Pa., are staggering across the snow under a load of garbage cans. Earl Perkins, of New Brunswich, N. J., is industriously digging out a bag of coal while E. H. Bramball and Arthur Zuhn are clearing out a shaft, Dr. Charles G. Morgan, of Tulsa, Okla., is washing dishes and Alfonse Carbone, our cook, just cautioned Paige to watch the bread in the ovens.

Alton A. Lindsey, Biologist, of West Newton, Penna.

It has been work of all kinds all day long ever since the sun appeared. There are meteorologists, George Grimminger and William C. Haines, filling that every hungry mouth of the snow melter and surveyor Quin Blackburn just offered to feed the cows for Edgar Cox if he would build a trail box for him. Verily the pursuit of science is interesting but it certainly keeps us busy.

The versatility of the men is really amazing. We have manufactured snow glasses and a really excellent compass. Then because of the extreme cold the ink in the recording instruments on the autogiro had a tendency to harden and we made new recorders of smoked materials on which the pens scratch a white mark.

The sail maker is a good tailor and makes trousers, shirts and parkas. Lewisohn has modeled some very fine heads and is now doing a dog team. Dr. Louis H. Potaka of New Zealand has an uncanny ability to dig up useful articles lost or buried by the first Byrd expedition. The Doctor disappears in the morning with a pick and shovel and returns at noon with anything from a package of darning needles to the rear axle of an old tractor. The days never lack interest and never lack work and at 9 o'clock each night when Commander Noville shouts "Lights Out," every one is already asleep.

All this goes on at a feverish pace, not because we are being driven but because we welcome the chance to get out and hustle. But this hustling certainly makes us hungry. Would you like to know what I had for breakfast this morning? Well, here is my menu: Tomato juice, grape-nuts with cream and sugar, two fried eggs and bacon, toast, strawberry jam and two cups of black coffee.

The real big excitement during this week, was digging the big Condor airplane out of the snow. This is the machine that Admiral Byrd intends to use for his long range explorations. This and all the other outdoor work is being done with the thermometer registering from 45 degrees to 60 degrees below zero.

There will be a gala celebration down here next month. We are laying plans to have some extraordinarily big doings on October 10 in honor of the first anniversary of the sailing of the Jacob Ruppert from Norfolk on October 12, 1933. We advanced the date two days in order to have the celebration on the afternoon of the broadcast over the Columbia network on Wednesday, October 10. You see, when it's 2 o'clock in the afternoon here, it is 10 o'clock in New York, so our big doings will take place in the afternoon, but you will hear it on the regular Wednesday night Byrd broadcast.

If you haven't joined our club yet simply send me a clearly self-addressed stamped envelope at the club's American headquarters and free membership card and big working map of Antarctica will be sent you. Address Arthur Abele, Jr., President Little America Aviation an dExploration Club, Hotel Lexington, 48th Street and Lexington Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Judge Kelly's Managers Deal Steve Barton a Blow below the belt

Judge Kelly's managers are reprinting in this paper and others over the district an editorial from the Charleston Enterprise Courier of May 31, 1934, which they claim is a Republican newspaper. It is not a republican newspaper, and Judge Kelly's managers know it, and they are trying to convey the idea that the editorial was directed against Steve Barton.

The editorial from the Enterprise-Courier, which is an independent newspaper, was published against an entirely different person than Steve Barton, as will appear from the following.

"Before the primary election when Oren Wilson announced as a candidate for circuit judge in opposition to our present judge—Frank Kelly—we editorialy stated we would support and vote for Judge Kelly, he being a high class gentleman and an able judge. It developed before the primary election was held that Stephen Barton, a prominent lawyer of Benton announced against Wilson as a Republican candidate for the office. Judge Kelly was nominated without opposition as the Democratic candidate and Barton defeated Wilson.

"Learning that Barton had filed, before the primary, we stated that he was a good lawyer and a high class citizen and whether Barton or Kelly was elected in November the district was certain of having a splendid circuit judge.

"A good many Republicans, with which party we are associated, but not publishing a Republican newspaper, have an idea that when we spoke so highly of Judge Kelly, and we have not changed our mind, that it looked as though we were against Mr. Barton. Our original article was directed against Oren Wilson, as not a proper man for the circuit court bench, and not against Mr. Barton."—Enterprise-Courier, Charleston, Mo., Nov. 1, 1934. When the School Lunch Looms

Director, Heinz Food Institute

OCTOBER—AND the school year is already well under way. Each morning brings a quick succession of important tasks. First comes a hearty breakfast—so necessary to start the day well. Then the lunch must be planned to balance nutritionally and packed so attractively it will be eaten down to the last cooky crumb. Of course, packing and carrying limits the food selection, but it is well always to build your menus around this nourishing standard—milk, a hot soup or drink, sandwiches with crisp green vegetables, a simple fruit dessert, and a finishing touch of sweetness in a cooky or a piece of candy. The daily schedule is simplified when the children can come home for lunch. This permits a wider choice of substantial quick dishes, such as nourishing cream soups, oven-baked beans, cooked spaghetti and cooked macaroni from the supply shelf, warm vegetables, green salads and fruits. Such menus as these suggested below will give you new impetus in school lunch plans, be the lunch packed or served at home.

Fruit Custard—Scald 1¾ cups milk in double boiler, add 1½ cups cooked rice and ⅓ cup Mince Meat and cook for 5 minutes. Blend 2 tablespoons flour, ½ cup sugar and ¼ teaspoon salt and add to 2 slightly beaten egg yolks. Add ¼ cup milk to this, and stir gradually into the rice and Mince Meat mixture. Continue cooking until thick or the consistency of very thick custard. Remove from fire and add 1 teaspoon vanilla. Pour into casserole or pudding dish and top with meringue made by whipping 2 egg whites until they form a peak, then gradually whipping in 4 tablespoons granulated sugar. Bake in a slow oven (300° F.) for 15 minutes or until delicately brown. Serve cold.

Mock Chicken Vegetable Salad Sandwich—Mix thoroughly 1 cup coarsely ground cooked pork or veal, ½ cup finely chopped raw carrot, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons India Relish, 3 tablespoons Mayonnaise and salt to taste. Spread between slices of white or whole wheat bread, which have been spread with Mayonnaise

Chipped Beef, Cheese and Horseradish Sandwich—Soak ¼ teaspoon Evaporated Horseradish in 1 teaspoon cold water for 10 minutes. Put 1 2½-oz. jar dried beef and ¼ lb. American cheese through food chopper. Add Horseradish and enough Mayonnaise to moisten. Spread 10 thin slices of bread with Mayonnaise. On 5 of them, spread the sandwich filling and top with remaining slices. If served at home, toast lightly, after which lift tops and sprinkle with shredded lettuce. Makes 5 large sandwiches which may be cut in halves.

Peanut Butter Drop Cookies—Cream ¼ cup butter with ½ cup Peanut Butter, add ½ cup sugar and continue creaming. Add 2 egg yolks and mix well. Sift 1 cup all-purpose flour, which has been sifted once before measuring, with 2 teaspoons baking powder, and add alternately with ⅓ cup milk. Fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and drop by teaspoonfuls on a well greased baking sheet. Bake on a rack placed rather high in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 10 minutes or until delicately brown.

Quantity Recipes of Quality

AFTER THE lazy summer lull, church and club activities begin to pick up with new fall zest. Members whose enthusiasm was worn threadbare at the end of the spring rush, return from their holiday trips full of energy for the new year's work. Fagerly they plunge into their fall activities, not the least of which are the countless pleasant dinners that women's organizations are wont to give to raise funds for the new season, or just to get together again. So often, though, it is difficult to plan a budgeted meal for a large group of people. Recipes for six do not always multiply successfully, and dishes that are delightful when served for a small family, often are quite impractical for a big group. So it will be with considerable relief and confidence that club women may turn to these reliably tested quantity recipes for their fall dinner parties.

Ham Baked with Barbecue Sauce (serves 50)—Soak 2 hams, weighing 10 lbs. each, for 3 or 4 hours or overnight in warm water to extract salt. Drain. Add fresh water and boil slowly until tender, about 3½ or 4 hours. Remove from water, place in roasting pan, cover with barbecue sauce and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until thoroughly cooked (1½ to 2 hours) basting constantly with the sauce.

Barbecue Sauce (serves 50)—Chop 2 large onions and 2 cloves garlic very finely. Add 1 cup Tomato Ketchup, 1 cup Worcestershire Sauce, 1 large can Cream of Tomato Soup, 1 cup Pure Cider Vinegar, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons sugar and ½ teaspoon pepper. Pour over hams.

Quick Cole Slaw (serves 50)—To 2 gallons finely shredded cabbage add 2½ tablespoons sugar, 2½ tablespoons salt and 1 teaspoon pepper. Mix 1 quart Mayonnaise with 1 cup Pure Vinegar and pour over the cabbage. Add 6 chopped green peppers and 1 teaspoon onion juice. Mix thoroughly and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

Fruit Cup Cakes (50 cup cakes)—Sift 6 cups pastry flour (sifted once before measuring), add 3 teaspoons baking powder and ¾ teaspoon baking soda, and sift together once. Cream 1 cup butter, add 2½ cups sugar and cream together thoroughly. Add 6 well beaten eggs. Add flour alternately with ¾ cup sour milk. Add 3 cups Mince Meat and 3 teaspoons vanilla and mix thoroughly. Pour into greased muffin tins, filling ½ full. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes. (May be baked in oblong baking pans in moderate oven (375° F.) for 45-50 minutes.)

Porcupine Beef Balls (serves 50)—Combine 8 lbs. ground round steak, 1 qt. uncooked rice, 2 tablespoons minced onion and 2 tablespoons salt, and mix thoroughly. Form into small balls. Place in deep baking dishes and cover with 1 No. 10 can Cream of Tomato Soup. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 1½ hours. (By using uncooked rice a "porcupine" effect is assured, because during the cooking process the rice swells and extends in points on the outside of the beef balls.)

Sunset Salad (serves 50)—Dissolve 1 institutional package (26 ozs.) lemon flavored gelatin in 3½ cups boiling water and ⅓ cup Pure Vinegar. Add 3 qts. water or pineapple juice and chill. Then add 3 qts. finely grated raw carrots, ½ No. 10 can drained crushed pineapple and 2 teaspoons salt to gelatin when slightly thickened. Chill in individual molds or shallow pans until firm. Serve in crisp lettuce nests with Mayonnaise.

FEDERAL AGENT SEIZES FIVE LOTS OF APPLES

Five lots of apples, shipped from Illinois, have been seized in Southeast Missouri towns by John P. Myers, deputy United States marshal, who served warrants for seizure issued by the Federal court in St. Louis at the request of the department of agriculture.

The apples were taken because they were allegedly sprayed with arsenate of lead or other poisonous chemicals and not washed properly and so left unfit for human consumption.

It is thought that perhaps the present owners of the apples will be allowed to wash the fruit to make it saleable, since otherwise they will be forced to sustain losses.

MANY TO ATTEND DISTRICT MISSIONARY MEET TODAY

A large delegation of Sikeston women will be in Caruthersville today for an annual meeting of missionary societies of the Cape Girardeau Methodist Episcopal church.

The following women, in addition to those who earlier in the week decided to go to Caruthersville, will attend the sessions: Mrs. Clarence Felker and Mrs. Lacy Allard, both members of the Russell-Bradley missionary society of the Sikeston Methodist Episcopal church; Mrs. Lyman Mitchell, a member of the Ben-Jon missionary society, and Mrs. C. A. Cook, Mrs. F. E. Mount, Mrs. J. M. Massengill and Mrs. G. A. Dempster, all members of the Ebert-Kready missionary society.

Other women who will be present at the meeting are Mrs. Arch Russell, president of the Ebert-Kready society; Mrs. Margaret Harper, president of the Russell-Bradley society; Mrs. E. H. Orear, a member of Ebert-Kready, who will lead a song service in the afternoon session, and Mrs. J. N. Ross, also a member of Ebert-Kready, who is vice-president of the St. Louis conference of missionary societies.

SEVEN TO BE AWARDED SCOUT TENDERFOOT PINS

At least seven Sikeston boys will be awarded Tenderfoot pins at a court of honor held in connection with an annual roundup for Boy Scouts of the Southeast Missouri Area Council which will be held in Cape Girardeau this evening.

They are T. W. Lee, Jr., Loomis Mayfield, Jr., Shad Olds, Jack Shepherd, Foy Collins, Buddy Lathom and Lyman Royal. All of them have completed tests to qualify for the award.

The largest delegation of Sikeston scouts to attend the roundup will be members of Troop 43, who will be accompanied to Cape Girardeau by four members of the Scout committee of the Lions club, sponsors of the troop, and two Lions members. The committeemen are Joe Sarsar, A. M. Jackson, O. T. Elder and Wayne Bess; the members, Elmos Taylor and Harry Sharp.

Scouts of Troop 43 who are planning to attend the roundup are Clarence Byrd, Albert Canoy, Dempsey Gardner, Clyde Long, Trentis Stovall, Claude Turner, Billy Bess, Harry Waldman, Carl Beaird, Frankie Engram, Clifton Jones, Clifford Jones, Fonie Swaim, A. T. Singleton, Sibert Hardin, Ralph Stevens, C. D. Wood, June Wood, Myron Morrison, Jesse Carroll, Charles Royal, and Charles Branum. Tharon E. Stallings, Scoutmaster of Troop 43, will not attend the roundup.

About 12 members of Troop 41 and perhaps several Scouts of Troop 42 will also be in Cape Girardeau tonight.

INSTRUCTOR'S MOTHER REPORTED NEAR DEATH

Glenn S. Duncan, instructor in manual training at the Sikeston high school, left here Thursday morning for his home in Excelsior Springs, Mo., where his mother was reported dying.

Mr. Duncan spent last weekend in Excelsior Springs to be with his mother, who has been an invalid for some time, suffering from a complication of diseases and most recently from a paralytic stroke, but he returned here to teach his classes this week.

SAFETY COMMITTEE APPOINTED BY MAYOR

Five members of a committee of seven appointed by Dr. G. W. Presnell for the furtherance of safety and the prevention of accidents met in the offices of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in the McCoy Tanner building Monday evening to organize and to discuss plans for a safety campaign which will be started soon.

After hearing the purpose of the committee explained by Robert Dempster, city attorney, the men present discussed requesting Boy Scouts to direct traffic at the grammar school and on other well traveled city streets during the times when children are entering and leaving school and decided to meet again Monday evening.

Members of the committee are Roy V. Ellise, superintendent of schools and chairman of the group; M. M. Beck, president of the Lions club; E. F. Schorle, president of the Chamber of Commerce; C. L. Blanton, Sr., and C. H. Denman, publishers of Sikeston's newspapers; Pete Medley, manager of the Malone Theater, and B. A. Kersting, manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company offices here.
